Tax Computation Explained By Revenue Director

The Internal Revenue Service announced today that, in view of pending legislation which, if enacted, would continue the present corporate normal tax rate, corporations with taxable years ending after March 31, 1956, and before December 31, 1956, may use the tax computation provided with Form 1120-ES for 1955 in estimating their tax for such taxable years. However, if such legislation is not enacted, the computation of estimated tax may, of course, be made in accordance with section 21 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

Easter Seals Helped 75 Letcher Children With Medical Care

Easter Seals provided 75 children in Letcher county with medical care, clinic examinations or treatment last year, it was reported today.

Virgil Picklesimer, County Easter Seal chairman, said services were provided through the combined facilities of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal society.

"Whenever a Crippled Children Commission clinic is held for the children of this area, Easter Seal funds help pay expenses of the clinic staff," the chairman said.

In addition, 19 youngsters from Letcher county were patients at Cardinal Hill Hospital, an Easter Seal center in Lexington. Another eight had other medical or hospital care paid for by Easter Seals.

The Kentucky Society also furnishes transportation for children to clinics and hospitals, and purchases wheel chairs, braces and the like, hospital equipment and medicines.

Its funds are raised during the current Easter Seal campaign, which continues through April 10.

The Chairman said Easter Seals also finance a state-wide program of speech and hearing tests and a loan pool of special equipment for crippled children in public schools. Teachers are given aid in helping correct speech of youngsters found defective. Hearing aids are purchased for children with hearing impairments after follow-up testing.

Open House at New Hospital Attracts Wide Attention

Huge throngs from far and near, visited the new Memorial Hospital, Sunday afternoon, at which time an open house reception was given by doctors and nurses in charge.

Numerous comments were heard, such as, "It's too good to be true," "Simply out of this world," "It will be a great blessing," "I never dreamed it would be as great as this," etc.

While the exact number of visitors is not known, it is estimated they numbered 2321 or more.

The exact opening date has not been set but it will probably be after March 20th.

The staff of the hospital were hosts to the Letcher County Medical Society and their wives on Monday night.

Hospital Opening Date Sometime After March 20

According to information received from Whitesburg Memorial Hospital the hospital will not be ready to admit patients until some time after the 20th. It has been erroneously stated in some of the larger newspapers that the hospital will open prior to this time, but today we are informed that this is a mistake.

Letcher Fiscal Court Meeting

Letcher Fiscal Court convened on Tuesday, March 13th for the regular monthly meeting with County Judge James M. Caudill presiding. Magistrates present were Edwin Holbrooks, Gardner Bates, Willard Hall, Henry M. Webb, W. R. Bates, Celson Scott, and Lawrence Cornett. Gordon R. Lewis County Attorney, advised and discussed the legality of a claim presented by County Sheriff, Robert B. Collins. Mr. Lewis made it plain that he was going strictly according to the statutes of Kentucky and that it was his desire to stick to the letter of the law. Collins filed on a claim for $2900, and Attorney Lewis contended that this should be itemized before it was allowed. The Court voted to pass the claim over until an itemized statement was rendered.

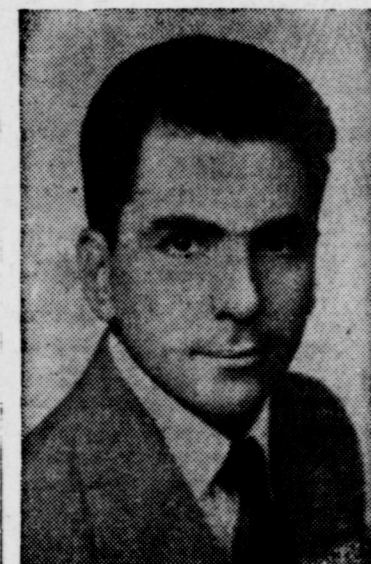

At the outset of Court, Judge James M. Caudill went into detail to explain to some visitors from Linefork that right-of-ways of roads gotten in promptly often times meant the difference between one section and another getting the road. Said Judge Caudill, "We can't buy farms for right-of-ways and build any roads. We only have a limited amount of money for the right-of-ways, and we can only build so many roads a year."

Style Center Announces Opening

According to information received from the Style Center, they are opening their new store this week. Due to the Easter rush and the many inquiries they have received from customers they are opening even though their stock is limited. They are receiving merchandise each day and one specialty will be a complete line of children's clothing.

Lexington, Ky., March 6—A scholarship and research fund has been established at the University of Kentucky by Consolidation Coal Company, which operates in Eastern Kentucky.

Establishment of the new fund was announced jointly by George O. Tarleton, president of the company, and Daniel V. Terrell, dean of the University's College of Engineering.

The plan calls for awarding several scholarships to U. of K. each year by the company.

Value of the grants will not exceed $700 a year for residents of Kentucky or $820 a year for out-of-state students.

Between $3,000 and $5,000 will be available for the school year 1956-57, company officials said. The financial aid will be offered to graduate as well as undergraduate students.

In awarding the grants, first consideration will be given to children of employees of the company. Second preference will go to students for study in the field of coal-mining, electrical, or mechanical engineering, and third preference to students who plan to study in the other fields of engineering, business, or education.

The grants will be based on need, character, scholastic ability, and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Persons interested in the scholarships may take the required examination to be given at 9:00 a.m., Monday, March 26, at Jenkins High School. The test will be given at other locations in the state later.

Consolidation Coal Company, a division of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company, has its headquarters at Jenkins.

Republican Meeting Saturday, March 17

There will be a Republican meeting held at the Court House at 1 p.m., March 17, to elect one precinct committee-man and one committee-woman. These precinct committee-men will form the County Committee. Within fifteen days after this meeting they will meet and elect the county chairman and other officers.

On April 7 all Republicans will meet as a County Convention at the Court House to elect delegates to go to the District and State Convention. The District Convention will be held April 13 and the State April 14. Letcher County is entitled to one delegate to be chosen for every two hundred votes cast in the County in the Presidential Election of 1952.

The Republicans in each precinct should attend this meeting March 17 for the purpose of electing their precinct chairman in their precinct so they will have a chairman who is satisfactory and will do the best job for the Republican party. If you fail to attend this meeting, Mr. Republican, a precinct chairman will be appointed and it may not be the one of your choice. So come and select your own chairman. This is the way to make our party strong.

Expansion of Electric Service Announced By Power Company; to Spend $700,000,000

The largest expansion in its 50-year history was announced today by the American Gas and Electric Company, parent organization of Kentucky Power Company.

The AGE System, which provides electric service to over 4,800,000 people in seven states, will spend $700,000,000 for construction of new facilities during the period 1956-60.

This expansion will include the addition of 2,600,000 kilowatts of generating capacity to meet the ever-increasing demands of the system's 1,300,000 customers.

Phillip Sporn, president of AGE, stated—"This program is designed to provide the entire area served by the American Gas and Electric System with all the power that its communities and industries can use to the same full extent it has always been available. We are looking forward with great confidence to the continued growth and expansion of the seven-state territory served by the AGE System. We are proud of our success in the past in increasing power supply as rapidly as customers and prospective customers could use it. The AGE System's aim, however, has always been to do more than that, by planning ample supplies of power well in advance of need to stimulate expansion of use of electric energy throughout our territory. Our new program—larger than anything we have ever undertaken before—underlines in terms of concrete action our confidence in the potential growth of the region in which we operate.

"All of the studies that we have made indicate that, as a result of natural growth and of our continuing efforts in area development, the utilization of electric power on our system will increase four-fold over the next 20 years. This building program, therefore, is but the first step in quadrupling our facilities to meet that demand in that time.

"We are particularly gratified to be able to announce the launching of such a program in 1956—the 50th anniversary year of the founding of the American Gas and Electric Company."

The 2,600,000 kw program will raise the AGE System's total generating capacity to 6,600,000 kw by 1960, more than double the system's capacity in 1952 and more than triple its 1949 capacity. A total of 1,700,000 kw of the expansion is already under construction or will be started within the next 45 days—this phase will be completed in 1956-58. The balance of the details of which are as yet unannounced, will be commenced by the middle of 1956 and completed in 1959-60. The new 2,600,000 kw program, Mr. Sporn observed, comes on top of a previous 10-year construction program, just ended, which involved capital expenditures of $785,000,000 and added 2,245,000 kw of capacity.

The generation facilities represent only a part of the new facilities planned in the $700,000,000 expansion in 1956-60. A large portion of the new investment will be devoted to construction of more transmission lines, distribution lines, substations, and operating and service centers. One of the most significant elements in the plans is the erection of new and important links in the AGE System's 330,000 volt network, the highest voltage transmission system in the nation.

Operating utility companies of the AGE System and the states in which they operate are as follows—Appalachian Electric Power Company, Virginia and West Virginia—Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, Indiana and Michigan—Kentucky Power Company, Kentucky—Kingsport Utilities, Inc., Tennessee—Ohio Power Company, Ohio—and Wheeling Electric Company, West Virginia.

GOOD FOR EVERYONE

Next April 1 soft coal prices will be generally increased. The increase, it is reported, will range from 15 to 50 cents a ton.

The reason for this is that the coal industry's expenses have been rising—primarily because of payroll costs. The new labor contract agreed upon last September provided for wage boosts totaling $2 a day, along with substantial increases in overtime pay. And the cost of labor, like any other cost, must be reflected in the price consumers pay for the product. The coal operators have no alternative.

Even with the increases, coal will remain an excellent bargain as a fuel and a source of energy. The new price levels will be just about the same as those obtaining eight years ago, in 1948. It was at that time that heavy cuts in prices began—and went to the point where many operators actually operated at an out-of-pocket loss.

It is obvious that such a situation could not indefinitely continue. It is equally obvious that the situation undermined the true interests of coal consumers, to say nothing of coal producers. For what the consumer wants and must have is a certain source of top-grade coal—and that can't be assured by a profitless industry.

The announced increases are moderate. Their purpose is to allow coal to pay its bills and have a chance to earn some kind of a profit. And that is good for everyone.

THE SIXTY-DAY RUMPUS IN FRANKFORT

Like many others in Letcher County we grew somewhat tired of the Wetherby Administration and rather welcomed the new administration of "Happy" Chandler, but after 90 days of Governor Chandler and 60-days of the current General Assembly, we have developed, to put it mildly, some serious misgivings.

Since the Legislature convened on January 3, we have watched the proceedings with astonishment. Perhaps no legislature in Kentucky history has been so completely under the Governor's control. He has pushed bill after bill through the Senate and House to the accompaniment of fierce squeaks, squawks and howls from dissenting members. But the major legislation has borne the Chandler stamp and is his, whether good, poor or awful.

Some enactments have been excellent and we are by no means critical of everything passed to date. However we deeply resent these measures:

1. The bill to repeal the tax on gambling bets at Keeneland race track near Lexington. It cost the state $310,000, yearly at a time when our schools are in desperate need for more money.

2. The re-organization bill. It will cost at least $100,000 a year to support the 8 Advisory Highway Commissioners. We need more miles of roads, not more politicians on the payroll.

3. The election bill. It comes two months before a hard-fought primary and implies that an effort is to be made to rig the election for the administration candidate.

4. The proposal to spend $200,000 on the Governor's mansion. This money could have been wisely spent for repair of school houses.

5. The proposal to legislate the elected officials of Frankfort out of office. This one was so outrageous that it sickened the legislators into killing it.

But out of all this sound and fury not one cent has come to the common schools for the Minimum Foundation Program and nothing has been done for the T.B. and Mental hospitals. What has become of the grand promises of last summer? When do we find "the gold mine in the sky?"

Perhaps the answer lies in the two Special Sessions which the Governor has announced. To one he will propose a bond issue of $100,000,000 and to the other a program to levy 25-30 million dollars yearly in new taxes. It may be that instead of last year's promise of efficiency and no new taxes we are to get this year, in fulfillment, great public debt and crushing new taxation.

Like many others we are alarmed by the proceedings at Frankfort. But we find no quarrel with our own State Representative, Harry M. Caudill, who has consistently spoken and voted for better government and has exercised an honest and independent judgment.

Maybe we are unduly alarmed and all the new laws will turn out for the good of our people, and we certainly hope so. We will be the first to recognize them if they do. We are only interested in the welfare of our great Commonwealth and its future.

A LETTER

Oakland, Calif.
Feb. 26, 1956

Dear Editor:

An organization is being formed to cooperate with the major and large minor baseball leagues through which they can obtain more and perhaps better prospects for their clubs and affiliates.

We are starting with about 150 towns throughout the country where clubs can be formed for our scouts to visit for the purpose of signing professional talent. These are the details:

Your very best young ball players, 17 through 24 years, whether from other towns, clubs, or not are brought together and formed into a team by a local man who knows talent to act as manager for the sole purpose to be scouted by professional clubs; this club of yours to be known as "Future Major Leaguers Jenkins Branch," its players can belong to other clubs in your area but should be available as a unit when scouts are to call, in this manner the professional clubs will have much more material to develop and ball players who otherwise might never be noticed, will have their chance.

Your branch manager, selected from among you could be an active manager for another club but still handle the Jenkins Branch. Your part in acquainting the people of your area with this arrangement will be appreciated by both the town and ball players, also the Association.

Very truly yours,
Future Major Leaguers Ass'n

FARM NEWS

—by John Begin—

EGGS

Poultry farmers are constantly concerned with reducing costs of production, especially now because of high feed prices. Essential in producing low-cost eggs is to raise healthy, sturdy pullets and bring them into production at the lowest possible cost. This was the purpose of two experiments conducted at the Robinson Substation.

The studies were made to determine (1) if it would be practical to use a simple, cheap grain mixture along with a mineral supplement instead of a more complex type of ration, and (2) if this plan would produce the type of pullet necessary for most efficient egg production.

The production-bred New Hampshire chicks used were brooded under similar conditions, and for the first 8 weeks all birds were fed a practical 20-percent starting mash, with grain being fed free-choice during the last 2 weeks of the brooding period. Then the birds were moved from the brooder house and placed on a natural or wild type range and divided into four groups. Three groups were fed an 18-percent protein range ration and a mixture of whole corn and oats free-choice. The fourth received only the corn and oat mixture and steamed bonemeal. The feed for all birds was available in hoopers, and the birds had access to pasture at all times. They were housed in the laying house when approximately 20 weeks old, and then all birds were fed the same 20-percent protein laying mash and grain mixture free-choice.

In respect to production, the most significant difference between the birds was in the percentage of eggs laid during the high-egg-price months of September through December. During that period the pullets which had received the mash and grain out-layed those which had received grain and bonemeal by 16.1 percent the first year and by 7.5 percent the second year. At housing time the former outweighed the latter by 1.5 pounds. The grain-bonemeal-fed pullets were underdeveloped and underweight when housed, and about 2 months were required for them to build up their body weight and to get into full production. Once they were into full production they generally outlayed the pullets which had received mash and grain and also maintained a higher production rate for a longer period. The majority of their eggs came, however, in late winter and spring when prices were lowest.

As for yearly production, there was little difference between the two groups of birds. The first year there was a difference of 6.5 percent in favor of the birds that had received mash and grain, but this was reduced to less than 1 percent the following year. There was also little difference between them in respect to mortality and the amount of feed required to produce a dozen of eggs.

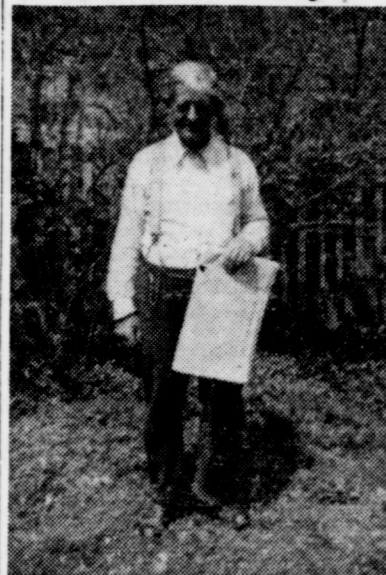

These results indicate that although pullets can be raised at a cheaper feed cost by using a simplified range feed, this may not be economically sound because fewer eggs are produced during the months of high egg prices. Better results might be obtained when simplified range rations are used if the birds had access to an excellent range, such as one consisting of ladino clover or other good legume.

Another problem studied at the Robinson Substation was whether production-bred New Hampshire pullets required a higher percentage protein concentrate than the usual 20-percent mash feed when the free-choice method was used. Two groups of pullets that had been fed an 18-percent range mash and free-choice grain ration were selected and divided into two pens of approximately 100 each when they were about 20 weeks old. Both groups received a whole corn and oat grain mixture free-choice, while one was fed a 20-percent laying mash and the other a 26-percent mash.

No advantage was shown in favor of the 26-percent mash during the two full laying years the experiment was conducted. For the first year egg production was 55.8 percent for the birds getting 20-percent mash and 55.7 for those receiving the 26-percent mash. The second year's figures were 54.1 and 55.0 percent, respectively. The percentage mortality and pounds of feed required per dozen of eggs were about the same. The pullets receiving the higher protein feed did consume more total protein, but it was not reflected in the results obtained.

Man works from sun to sun, but SAVINGS BONDS work for you 24 hours a day. Give them a chance to make your future more secure.

GMC brings you the most impressive improvements of all 1956 trucks

Now we can show you these great new GMC's that are further than ever ahead of all others. Their advances not only clinch power supremacy—but reach into fields still unexplored by other truck-makers.

For example, GMC's Road Shock Damper Suspension*—plus a unique new stabilizer—produces in half-ton models a ride comparable to the finest passenger car.

An optional new fast-ratio cruising axle in light-duty GMC's gives you an overdrive's pace and economy without its cost.

Sharply increased engine displacement in both sixes and V8's gives you a power family unsurpassed in the light-duty field. Specifically, we offer 14.4% GREATER displacement on 6-cylinder models, 16.2% on V8's than our nearest competitors. And GMC V8's, mind you, match the shortest stroke ratios in the truck industry.

Styling is well into the future—panoramic windshield to sand-tight tail gate. Tubeless tires, of course. And a 12-volt electrical system is standard. These are some of the strides presented in new 1956 Blue Chip trucks we now have on view. The values are even more notable. Come in and get the facts!

*Standard on Suburban; optional at slight extra cost on other 1/2-ton models

Mountain Eagle Picks the First All-District Team

The Mountain Eagle is very privileged to select an All-53rd District Tournament team for the 1955-56 Cage Classic. Players who were selected for this team will be presented a certificate acknowledging the fact that they were picked for the honor along with a one-year subscription to the Mountain Eagle.

The Eagle feels that it is only right in giving the honor of being Captain of this mythical honor squad to the only unanimous choice for the team, J. W. Vanover of the Fleming-Neon Pirates. Vanover, a 6' 1", 185-lb. Junior, scored 59 points in three outings for a 19.6 average as he led his team to the Runner-up spot in the 53rd District Tournament. Here the "Top Ten" who were selected to the squad, followed by the boys who made the Honorable Mention selection.

Polly—Whitesburg
Vanover—Fleming-Neon
Blair, J.—Whitesburg
Mead, R.—Whitesburg
Wheatley—St. Robinson
Cornett—Kingdom Come
Sexton—Whitesburg
Blair, D.—Jenkins
Banks—Whitesburg

The Whitesburg Yellowjackets, winner of the 53rd District title, landed five players on the All-Tournament squad, with the Runner-up Fleming-Neon Pirates placing two men on the team, with Jenkins, Kingdom Come and St. Robinson getting one man each on the squad.

Participating in the poll were Coach Wright of Jenkins, Coach Back of St. Robinson, Coach Trosper of Whitesburg, Coach Armstrong of Fleming-Neon, Coach Fugate of Kingdom Come, and Tournament Manager and Official Timer for the Tournament, Jim Brown.

Boys, whether you made it or not, the Eagle wishes each of you the best of luck in your hardwood career. We only wish that each of you could have made the team.

'Jackets Runners-Up For 14th Regional

The Carr Creek Indians, considered by many to be the team that will be on top when the current State Tournament is over, knocked off the injury-laden Whitesburg Yellowjackets 76-46 on the final contest of the 14th Regional Tournament at Hazard, Saturday night.

The Yellowjackets, playing without the services of 6' 5" Senior Pivotman Jimmie Blair and limited action from Captain Rex Polly who played his final games with 28 stitches and a clamp in his right hand, played on even terms with the Indians for one half of the game but fell by the wayside in the final half. Blair, the Whitesburg hope to keep down the scoring threat of Bobby Ray Shepherd, the Letcher County boy who transferred from Kingdome Come Settlement School to the Knott County school at the beginning of the current season. Polly, a consistent scorer and rebounder for the Jackets, played with the stitches as a result of an accidental fall through a window in the dressing room of the Whitesburg gym following their next to last regular season outing with the Cumberland Redskins.

Whitesburg lost the opening tip and Carr Creek's E. A. Couch hit a shot from 30 feet out to send the Carr Creekers out in front 2-0. The Indians ran the score up to 8-0 with 3 minutes elapsed in the contest before Robert Meade hit two charity tosses to set the score at 2-2. The Knott County boys continued their red-hot pace and by half time the score stood at 32-25. E. A. Couch, almost a surety for All-State honors, hit for 18 first half points.

During the second half of the contest, the Trosperites fell by the way as the red-hot Indians pulled their lead up to a thirty-point margin by the end of the contest 76-46.

Taking all scoring honors for both teams was E. A. Couch with 23, followed by Bobby Shepherd with 17, Maggard with 12, Calhoun with 6, and Amburgey, Richardson, Mullins, and Combs with 4 each. Guard Robert Meade tabulated 20 markers for the losing Whitesburg five, followed by Sexton with 10, Billy Banks (the red-headed fireball) with 8, Rex Polly with 4, and Darrel Stidham with 4.

The youthful Whitesburg cage mentor, Ernest "Ernie" Trosper, the former College star who led the state college scoring pace last year, had nothing but praise for his Yellowjackets, who were his first team in his first year coaching career. Trosper had a very successful season as he took his Jackets to the finals of the 14th Regional Tournament.

On the victory path to their final game, the Trosperites overcame the Fleming Pirates for the third time this year 71-58 and the Leslie County Eagles 75-62 to gain their final position. Both teams were highly ranked and before the game odds were impossible as both games were tossups. The Jackets jumped to big leads in both contests and soared to their final margins with the grace of a professional team.

Pike Music Festival Held April 5 - 7

Pikeville, Ky. — The Pikeville Regional Music Festival, which annually draws more than 1,000 high school students, will be held April 5-7 on the campus of Pikeville College.

Students already are entered from 14 high schools in six Eastern Kentucky Counties.

Dr. A. A. Page, college president and festival manager, said today. The entrants will not be rated, but those recommended by the judges at Pikeville will be qualified for the vocal and piano section of the State Music Festival April 27 and 28, and the instrumental section May 11 and 12.

Besides "state" entries, which are now closed, further entries for purely local participation will be received until March 19, Dr. Page said. The "local" entries will receive the criticisms and suggestions of the festival judges, but will be ineligible for the state contests.

The 279 registrations in different events already carded are headed by 36 piano solos. Numerous vocal and instrumental solos and small groups, 9 high school bands and 11 choruses also are scheduled.

Judges to criticize performances and select state-contest participants include, for choral and vocal events, James van Peursem, head of the Eastern Kentucky State College Music Department; Gomer C. Pound, of the Morehead State College music faculty, for woodwind solos and ensembles; and two University of Kentucky music instructors. The University faculty members are J. William Worrel, who will criticize bands and brass-instrument numbers, and Ford Montgomery, judge of piano events.

On The Hill

By Phyllis Hall

Whitesburg Yellowjackets were victorious over the Fleming Pirates again Wednesday night in Memorial Gymnasium at Hazard. Supported by the band and team-followers the first step was accomplished 71-59.

Thursday a Navy counselor spoke to Seniors about their future, after the big step into the world.

Mr. Boggs had to speak to a few students about their lockers! That is to the ones who have about fifteen to one locker.

Friday the school was preparing for the overthrow of Leslie County and a big pep rally clinched it. I'm sure I'll never see a more inspiring scene or a happier face than that of Coach Trosper, when the team carried him off on their shoulders. The relationship between Coach and athletes has carried Whitesburg High School to the regional finals. That night the Majorettes of the band received a tremendous ovation at the completion of their performance during half time.

The Senior play of the class of '56 is under way, with Miss Raleigh as director. The selection is a very popular one, entitled "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." Based on the novel by John Fox, Jr., with our local color, the play should attract a very large audience of people from all over the county. Those chosen for parts are Joella Craft, Harold Cook, Charles Adams, S. T. Barrett, Peggy Fultz, Janice McKnight, Iva Lee McCray, Janet Ison, Donelda Breeding and Phyllis Ann. The casting is not completed at the present time.

The tryst with Carr Creek was heartbreaking. It was a long ride home, but not because of defeat, but because we knew Carr Creek is not thirty points the better team. A star of the big five did not even dress due to the condition of his ankle—Big Jim Blair watched the massacre from the bench. Even in defeat we're proud of the fact that On the Hill we've always come up with winner or runner-up trophy for the past thirty years.

Sunday the Carr Creek Indians and their backers paraded through town celebrating their victory. All the way 14th District, we're for you!

Monday the trophies were presented to the school and Coach Trosper and Coach Moore did the ceremonies. Mr. Boggs said they would be displayed in a new trophy case, which must be built. All the boys who had not already received two high school awards were given their basketball jackets. They are quite different this year, but very handsome. I don't blame the boys for their proud strutting.

The Class Presidents were called to the office for the drawing of the Inter-Mural basketball games. The winner will play the undefeated faculty. They win in the end, boys, so don't beat 'em. Added attraction will be Little All-American Ernie Trosper.

Monday night the Band Club met and the future bandsters were discussed and uniformed. Tuesday each class was shortened in order to meet each class and yet hear the excellent concert presented by the Georgetown College Band. Playing first chair cornet was our former band director, Mr. Jack Taylor. Two former students in the band also were Miss Walleen Enlow and Mr. Gail Potter. The students showed how much they liked the program by the attention they gave and by their applause. Mr. Taylor and Gail Potter were two of a Trio which played Bugler's Holiday. A very fine band.

School was dismissed at 2:00 o'clock for a P.T.A. meeting in the grade school auditorium.

The next few remaining weeks will go by very fast and certainly they will be the most exciting and longest remembered events of our lives. Seniors, this is your time, weigh it for the worth that our twelve years of education allow us to comprehend. The largest graduating class ever to tread the way off the hill. Even though it will be a sad moment it will also be a happy one with the feeling of one major step accomplished.

I guess you don't have to read any more to know how I hate to leave this ole school. The days to come will be happy ones—tomorrow is one of those days, so bye now.

—PHYLLIS ANN HALL

FISH FRY

"Fish and fellowship" was the theme on last Friday night as the Graham Memorial Presbyterian Church entertained the staff of Whitesburg Memorial Hospital at a fish fry in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

About 125 guests and church members were served a delicious meal of fish, French fries, hushpuppies, tossed salad and coffee. The Men's Bible Class was the planning committee for the event.

Advance preparations were made by Mrs. William Conley, Mrs. Alpha Hart, Mrs. Jack Little, Mrs. Robert Fike.

Mr. Harold Vermillion was chief cook for the evening. He was assisted by Ted Yontz, fish detail, Bob Fike, potatoes, Jack Little and Mrs. Troy Stallard, hushpuppies and Joe Romeo, salad chef. Paul Vermillion and Archie Craft were exceptionally efficient bus-boys.

Table decorations of spring flowers and candles were arranged by Mrs. Paul Vermillion and Mrs. Archie Craft. Mrs. Doug Blair, church secretary, greeted the guests at the door and pinned identification cards on each person to facilitate introductions.

The dishwashing detail was composed of the deacons of the church and such slave labor as they were able to conscript.

Scenes from the Holy Land

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL

The first employment ever given to man belonged to the husbandry calling. The three prominent branches of this work considered of the case of vineyards, the growing of grain, and the raising of flocks. Adam was told to keep the Garden. His sons followed their father's profession. Abel raised flocks and Cain was a tiller of the soil.

Agriculture has always been an honorable calling and a needful one, too, for the king himself is served from the field. In the Bible Lands today soil cultivation remains the chief occupation of the people. The old, old primitive method of the wooden plow, drawn by cattle, is still used.

Possibly no implement of the Bible is more frequently illustrated than the plow. There is every reason also to believe that the plows still used in Palestine, Egypt and Syria are counterparts of ancient ones. The first plows were probably an adaptation of the ancient, but famous, Egyptian hoe, with the handle being lengthened in order that animals might be hitched to it.

Such an implement as the crude, wooden plow of the Bible Days could do little more than scratch the surface of the ground, and this is what the Hebrew word implies. In those days planting preceded plowing. The farmer walked across the field scattering the grain, while the servant or his wife followed behind him plowing the soil and covering the seed.

When Elisha was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen there were probably twelve plows, each with its pair of bullocks and its man. I have seen numerous plows in the same field at work. The arable land of nearly all villages is cultivated in common. Then, too, the Arab farmers delight to work together, partly for mutual protection and partly from their love to gossip.

One special law is mentioned in the Scripture in connection with plowing. Namely, that an ox and an ass should not be yoked together. This prohibition is utterly disregarded today. One may see any number or kind of combinations hooked to the plow in Palestine.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Heartbreak and Frustration Found In Doctors' Offices

by Jack Wild

An elderly man, sick and in need of prompt medical attention, sat in a doctor's outer office. He was weary, bone weary, for now it was late afternoon and he had been there since 11. All day the room had been crowded with patients waiting for the busy doctor. When after seemingly endless hours his turn came to see the specialist, the old fellow received skilled treatment that made his ills a bit easier to bear—but he had had to wait half a day to get it.

In another doctor's reception room a young mother and her 4-year-old daughter waited. The youngster had heavy metal braces on her legs and a battered doll in her arms. She was a sweet-natured child with a friendly smile for the others, some sitting on chair arms or even standing, who waited to see the doctor. She had been through this before and she didn't complain about the long wait, but at least she tugged on her mother's skirt. "Mommy," she whispered, "I'm so tired."

Little scenes of heartbreak and frustration like these occur in Kentucky every day, and they serve to point up the critical shortage of doctors that exists. In all likelihood Kentucky has some of the best doctors to be found anywhere, but at least four studies of the Commonwealth's medical problems show that there simply are not enough of them.

The Kentucky Medical Foundation cites a 1953 report of the Legislative Research Commission to support the statement:

"There is a definite statewide shortage of physicians, allied medical personnel, and medical facilities, and a critical shortage in most rural and farm areas. Kentucky currently has a shortage of about 1,400 doctors. The shortage in 1965 could reach 1,800."

The answer, according to the Foundation, is the establishment of a medical school at the University.

CumberlandStatement of Hon. Carl D. Perkins on
The Floor of the House, March 5, 1956

Mr. Speaker:

The accomplishments of Medical Science since the days of Dr. Harvey and Pasteur are among the brightest pages of History, but there remains much to be done. The two dreaded killers, Cancer and Heart Disease, remain among the mysteries of medical problems with neither a preventive nor a cure being known. Our own ranks, our friends and our families are no strangers to either the stark tragedy of a torturing death from Cancer or the sudden stroke of the grim reaper through Heart Disease. Medical Science can do little in either case and there is little if any warning in the approach of the latter.

The success of Medical research in other fields gives us every reason to believe that it will eventually conquer these two great plagues which between them account for two of every three deaths in this country. Such research requires both dedicated scientists and money. Our schools, given time and opportunity, will develop the scientists, but the financial requirements are so great that there is no hope of obtaining adequate funds for the job unless this body takes the lead and become the major contributor. The National Institutes of Health are doing yeoman work in this field, but it is necessary that they be given additional support if we expect them to both intensify and expand their activities. Progress in their efforts must not be halted or developments lost in the name of economy. There is another major field, Mental Health, in which much research remains to be done. Many, altogether too many, able-bodied individuals are slipping into that category now known as the mentally ill each year. Once considered victims of evil spirits, these individuals are now recognized as suffering from diseases of the mind but neither the cause nor a cure is known. They are our living "dead" and no effort to discover the cause or a cure for such an illness should be spared.

I do not know how much can be economically invested in these and allied causes each year, but I am ready and willing to be guided by the advice of the specialists who best know the scope of these problems. The National Advisory Councils of each of these Institutes make annual reports advising us as to the minimum amount required to maintain progress in these all important research fields. They are my guide, and I can think of no better one. Each year we have failed to reach, or remotely approach these minimum requirements. In 1952 President Truman recommended a total of $54 million for these three research programs, but his successor in the name of economy reduced these recommendations in a document usually known as the revised budget for 1954 by more than 30% to $36.6 million. Some $4 million of this cut was restored by the members of this body, and I take pride in believing that my efforts had some effect in this action. By 1955 the appropriations for these three programs had been increased to $43 million. The 1956 recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget is a respectable $53 million, but the Advisory Councils recommended $78 million as the minimum necessary to continue these programs. Nothing less should suffice.

In a year during which we are increasing appropriations for interest payments by $200 million dollars following a $500 million increase this year, with no increase in the National debt limit, must we admit that this Congress is more concerned with the financial health of our bondholders than we are in the mental and physical health of our individual citizens. The interest cost for the fiscal year of 1955 was 6.4 billion dollars. The 1957 estimate is $7.1 billion dollars without a change in the national debt limit. Only $3 of each $100 of the two-year increase would be required to meet the recommendations of the Advisory Councils.

The Appropriations Committee has increased the recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget by $10,000,000. This will increase the research funds for each of these Institutes by one million dollars. This is real progress in the right direction which I heartily endorse, but I hope the recommendations of the National Advisory Councils headed by outstanding authorities such as Dr. Paul White will be given more consideration in the future.

The funds for vocational education authorized by the George-Barden Act in the present budget recommendation total $26,500,000, the same as was appropriated last year. These funds are matched by local and state funds at a variable ratio which in the fiscal year ending 1955 was $4.43 of State and local funds for each dollar of federal appropriations. The Appropriations Committee has increased this recommendation to $29,267,000 which approximates the full authorization of $29,300,000 under the George-Barden Act. Each dollar of this two-and-three-quarter million dollar increase means more than $5 for vocational education when matched by state and local funds. The approval of this increase will mean much to the future of this country. The Budget Bureau recommended that grants to states and other agencies for vocational rehabilitation be increased by three and one-quarter million dollars to a total of $37 million.

The Appropriations Committee has seen fit to decrease this amount to $35 million. I feel that the Committee was in error in this action. This is a 50% reduction in the funds for research. Mr. E. B. Whitten, of the National Vocational Rehabilitation Association says that this reduction means two things — "First, that research now under way on disabling conditions and rehabilitation methods will have to be cut back or some projects discontinued entirely. Second, it means a complete halt to any new research during the coming fiscal year."

I think we should recognize him as an authority on the subject and give his statement full consideration.

WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB OF JENKINS

Members of the Woman's Civic Club of Jenkins were charmed with a program of folk dancing at their meeting on Tuesday night, March 6 at the Library, when eight members of the Jenkins High School Folk Dancing Club entertained them with seven entrancing numbers.

Under the direction of Mr. Jack Neice, a member of the high school teaching personnel, the folk dancers interpreted both foreign and American dances to record music, with a brief history of each by Mr. Neice. Members of the Club who participated were David Howard, Pat Chandler, Paul Dotson, Loretta Looney, James Gray, Linda Cantrell, Ronald Charles and Linda Boggs.

The program on International Affairs, was arranged by Miss Dorsey Walker, also a member of the teaching personnel of the Jenkins High School, who gave an interesting talk on the meaning of folk dances, and explained that she had chosen to portray that particular phase of different nationalities. "True folk dances," she said, "reflects the spirit and characteristics of the people."

During the business meeting, presided over by Miss Clara Shaw, president, announcement was made of the Pot-Luck supper and election of officers, to be held March 2 at the Library, and a nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of new officers. These were Mrs. Steve Varson, Mrs. Blake Sanders and Mrs. Sam Holbrook.

Announcement was also made concerning the Handicraft Exhibit to be held May 1 at the Library, with Mrs. Varson as general chairman. Club members and friends are invited to meet at the library on Friday evenings during the remaining weeks of March and through April to work on handicrafts.

Other business brought before the Club included a brief talk on the meaning of the Freedom Scroll, by Miss Shaw, who urged all members to sign the Scroll and thus help to fight Communism. Miss Walker, Chairman of International Relations, and her committee, will contact each member. Mrs. Anna Holbrook has been deputized to secure new registrations for voting, in the Jenkins area, and it was urged that all new residents or others who have not previously been registered contact Mrs. Holbrook. Mrs. William Daniels is chairman of the registration committee.

Following the program of dances, a film was shown on Community Betterment, based on an interview between Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and an executive of the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Projects for the Community Achievement Contest, sponsored by Women's Clubs by various clubs nation-wide were shown in an interesting manner. The film was run by Eddie Wayne Bowling, a Jenkins High School student.

Guests of the Club were Mrs. Taylor Horn of Dunham; Mrs. L. R. Hanyen, Jr., of Gainesville, Florida, who is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Varson, and Mr. Neice and the members of his folk dancing club.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Arnold Mattox, Mrs. Paul Faux, Mrs. W. T. Love, Mrs. L. C. McCloud, Mrs. R. M. McDonough and Miss Shaw, who served delightful refreshments buffet style, from a lace covered, candle-lit table.

Missionary Day Exercises at Clear Creek

Pineville, Ky. — The third in a series of four missionary day exercises of the school year will be held March 20, and 21 at the Clear Creek Mountain Preachers Bible School, Pineville.

The program will begin at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday night in the Kelly Hall Chapel. Rev. Wendell Belew, Mount Vernon, Ky., will give an illustrated message by showing projected pictures of mission work in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. Mr. Belew is superintendent of mountain mission work for the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky.

On Wednesday morning the exercises will open with a special prayer meeting for missions at 8:30 a.m., followed by state and regional group meetings. At 11:00 a.m., Rev. Belew will bring the principal missionary address.

A special feature of the 11:00 o'clock service will be the presentation of the annual award to the "Outstanding Mountain Minister of the Year." This year the award will go to Dr. J. S. Bell, Pastor of the Hindman Baptist Church, Hindman, Ky.

Dr. Bell has served as pastor of the Hindman church for the past sixteen years and pioneered in the establishing of a church-centered mission program. He was the overwhelming choice of associational missionaries and church leaders who made nominations for the award from pastors in the whole Appalachian mountain region.

Rural Couple's Baby Delivered By Veterinarian

by Jack Wild

Does Kentucky need more doctors?

In a remote corner of one Kentucky county, an anxious young husband, humble and poor, tried desperately to get a doctor to attend his wife, who was about to have her first child. No doctor came.

The young man, frantic, appealed to a neighbor for help, and the neighbor suggested that a veterinarian be called. The veterinarian delivered the baby. This is a true story. The Kentucky Medical Foundation has facts to support it.

Other similar cases in the same county are not unheard of. The old practice of midwifery is common in that section. The people living there want more doctors and better medical attention. Local doctors are said to oppose the opening of a second medical school in Kentucky.

The critical shortage of doctors is not limited to one section of the state. In 1949 over 5,000 births—most of them in rural areas—occurred with no physician in attendance. In the death of infants under one year of age, the Kentucky rate was higher than that of all but three other states.

It is estimated that rural Kentuckians get less than half as much medical care as city dwellers. Rural counties have an average of one doctor for 1,976 people, while eight urban counties have an average of one doctor per 816 people. One county in Kentucky has only one physician for its population of 13,000. Another does not have even one doctor living in the county.

Kentucky, with some 3,000,000 people, has 2,375 doctors. Great numbers of Kentucky's residents do not receive adequate medical attention, it is residents do not receive adequate medical attention. The answer to the problem, according to the Medical Foundation, is the early establishment of a state-supported medical college at the University of Kentucky.

County's Needy Residents Drew $50,927 Benefits

Frankfort, Ky. — Needy residents of Letcher County drew $50,927 through the State Department of Economic Security in February which administers the public assistance programs—it was announced today by Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes.

Total old age assistance grants for the month were $18,799; while aid to dependent children grants in the county were $29,736, and needy blind grants totalled $2392.

Total outlay for public assistance during the month was $3,254,326 of which $1,949,210 went for old age assistance; $1,191,296 for dependent children, and $113,820 to the needy blind.

Soil Conservation

Reforestation Day at
Local School

On March 9 the members of the Stuart Robinson High School Conservation Club, which is sponsored by Pat Napier, set approximately 6,000 trees on property owned by the Stuart Robinson School. These trees were set by the Club members in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, on idle mountain land.

The tree setting was supervised by Mr. Napier and he was assisted by Albert Hayes of the Knott County Soil Conservation District.

Bill Morrill, Soil Conservation Service, Forester Harvey Bradley, Soil Conservation Service, Hazard, and Cecil Hensley, Work Unit Conservationist of the Letcher County Soil Conservation District.

TAKING DOWN SIGN—Thurston B. Morton, who has announced he will be a candidate for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket this year, resigned as assistant secretary of state in Washington to devote full time to his campaign. He is pictured as he took down the "shingle" over his office door in the U.S. State Department, where he was an advisor of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Morton Begins Tour of State

Beginning immediately, Thurston B. Morton of Louisville, who is a candidate for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket this year, will tour Kentucky to discuss campaign plans with party leaders.

Morton, a former Congressman and recently an assistant secretary of state in the U. S. State Department in Washington, said he believes his party will have strong candidates for Congress in all Kentucky districts this year, and that an all-out effort, aided by many Democrats, would be launched to carry Kentucky for President Eisenhower.

The senatorial candidate, who managed the successful senatorial campaign of Senator John Sherman Cooper four years ago and came within 700 votes of giving the state's electoral votes to Eisenhower, said the President has gained strength among Kentucky voters during his four years in office.

He pointed out that recent polls show well over 60 percent of the voters want the President, returned to the White House.

Washington observers said that when Morton resigned President Eisenhower gave the Kentuckian one of the strongest letters of commendation issued by Ike thus far to any candidate for office.

"In carrying out the responsibilities of Assistant Secretary for Congressional Relations," Eisenhower wrote Morton, "you have evidenced a wealth of abilities that have been of great assistance in the effective conduct of our foreign relations. Both Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and I will miss the strong support you have constantly afforded through your perceptiveness, broad understanding and forthright handling of matters of common interest to the Congress and the State Department."

"During your three years in this post you have not only earned the profound respect of your colleagues throughout the Executive Branch, you have confirmed the high regard of those Members of Congress with whom you served as a Representative from Kentucky. To one as devoted as you are to public service, such esteem must be especially gratifying. I trust that the success and important achievements you have already made will encourage you in your desire to contribute publicly in still larger measure to the security and well being of the American people."

West Virginia Joins SREB

Atlanta, Ga.—West Virginia has become the 16th state in the Southern Regional Education Compact by action of its legislature in February.

One-third of the United States are now members of the Compact, which was created by legislative action in 1949 and established the Southern Regional Education Board.

"The SREB has accomplished much in the seven years of its existence," West Virginia's Governor William C. Marland stated in signing the bill. "We are proud to become a part of this vital force in higher education in the South."

In Tallahassee, Florida, Governor LeRoy Collins, chairman of the SREB, said that the entry of West Virginia into the Compact was a "significant event" in the history of regional education.

At its 1955 meeting, the Board took action to approve the participation of West Virginia and Delaware in the Compact programs effective July 1, 1956. Delaware ratified the Compact in 1955 and ten of the original 14 states have approved admission of both West Virginia and Delaware.

Full membership of the two states will depend on the final approval of the other fourteen states.

Letcher in Detroit...

by Rev. Byrd Adams

We talked about things that happened, seemingly, a long time ago. Yet, as our minds began refreshing memories of boyhood days, it seemed like, at most, a yesteryear away. We mentioned some of the great persons with whom we came in contact in those days. Among them were such fine old men as the genial and wise late Professor Harris, who was then living in his sunset years.

It seemed like a long time, and in the lives of busy young men facing life's responsibilities it had been a long time, since Mr. Bob Pendleton of Whitesburg, or Bobby, as his friends still call him, and I had seen each other. So it was natural that we spent the most part of last Friday evening talking about old times.

Bobby, who is a repairman on brake assembly at the Chrysler-Jefferson plant—though presently laid off temporarily, and Pete Jarrett dropped over to see me early last week and found me away. Friday evening I went to see him and Pete.

A cute little six year old girl with blond pig tails received me at the door. She answered "yes" when I inquired if this was the residence of a Mr. Bobby Pendleton.

"Come in, Byrd!" a big booming voice bellowed as its owner, the said Mr. Pendleton came toward the door. "Well I'll be! Boy! It's good to see you again!"

Thus began a most pleasant evening as Bobby and I reverted back to boyhood days. Probably it was a good thing our wives were not there to hear our stories of boyish pranks and the next thing to general mayhem along with the other things that go to build memories of many a man.

The last time I had seen Bobby by Pendleton was in 1944 before he went away to the Navy to help fight a war. Now, 12 years later, I ran into him again surprised to learn that he had been living in the same general neighborhood of Detroit in which I resided for more than three years. He had been in Detroit much longer than that.

In the course of his Navy career Bobby met a Miss. Mary Elizabeth Parker from the Province of Saskatchewan, Canada. They met in Vancouver, Canada, while Bob was on leave. Bobby and Mary later married and now have a girl, Cheryl, age six, and a boy, Terry, age 14 months.

Bobby showed me some interesting pictures taken while the family was on vacation in Canada last summer. They spent two weeks visiting with Mary's family on her father's farm, which is 1,800 miles by highway from Detroit.

"That was two wonderful weeks of hunting, fishing, picnicking, and so on," Bobby said. "My wife's folks sure are fine people."

"Wonderful country up thru

Bald Eagle off a telephone pole." He showed me a picture of the there," he continued. "I shot a big eagle. "There are streams up through there that has never seen a fishing pole. It almost takes the fun out of fishing, the way they bite."

Bobby went in the kitchen to make a pot of coffee. His daughter, Cheryl, said to me, "I can make a house."

"You can?" I said. "Well, that's fine. How about drawing one for me in my notebook?"

She took my pencil and drew a house with windows, a roof and a door. Then she drew a little girl wearing a bonnet. Beside the little girl she placed a dog. All very well drawn, I must say.

While Bobby and I were having coffee Pete Jarrett, who is a butcher with National Foods, Inc., here, came in. After that Pete, Bobby and I went visiting into the past via memories of days in the little town of Whitesburg in the seemingly long ago.

One thing Bobby, Pete and I agreed we have in common among other things is, whenever we are back in Whitesburg we make it a point to call on one of the persons who have had so much influence in our lives as we are living them today. The person is Mr. W. L. Stallard, a Whitesburg High School teacher.

Early Corn Delivery Established

Mr. Roy C. Gray, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today that farmers in the State of Kentucky who have corn under farm-stored loans and purchase agreements will be allowed to deliver their corn to the Government under the direction of local county committees starting May 1, 1956. Farmers were originally scheduled to deliver this grain July 31, 1956. Mr. Gray stated an early delivery date for this corn was established by the State Committee because it was their opinion that farmers in Kentucky were not in position to safely store their corn for the full storage period due to the heavy infestation of corn in this area during the summer months by the anguomous moth.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

Seems to me that an Old Timer is a fellow who remembers when history was made at half the price it costs today.

Sitting on the back porch the other night, watching the sun drop behind the green trees on the hill, I got so I was havin a running battle with the flies and mosquitoes something terrible. Between rounds I got to thinkin how insects are the greater enemy of our forests. Control of tree-killing insects and bugs is a problem for scientists and foresters, but I got to considering how we can help by cleanin out over-crowded stands and harvestin timber before it gets over ripe. And everytime I clipped a mosquito I could almost imagine a tree doin the same in the forest on the hillside.

John Cacioppo, a popular Texas distributor of lumbering supplies, writes that a Texas pedestrian is a guy who walks to the garage for his car.

Got involved in talking about families a while back with some fellers who said they was amazed that a shory like me could have such a nice bunch around the house. I told them my first name was Stumpy just cause I was small — not cause I wasn't no good.

Then I reminded him that in the forest, just like in many other places, good things come in little packages. The smaller the stump, the less good wood is wasted, for that much more board feet have gone into lumber or pulp.

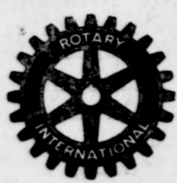

He has to agree with me. Stumpin a forest low to the ground is the best. An' that's why I'm proud of my first name. It's a pretty good sign of fine forestry.

Women know they've reached middle age when their shoes pinch them more than the men do.

We get flash storms where I live. Whenever they spring up I like to sit next to the window and watch the lightning scurry across the heavens. I don't worry too much about lightning causing forest fires. People cause more fires than lightning and we can do something about that. It might be if we'd make people see it's more fun to play with a whole tree than just a match we'd have less worry.

And if we had no trees we'd have no row boats. Without boats people could never catch those bigmouth bass up Maine way. Talkin about fishin reminds me of the time I saw a sign in a farmer's fish pond which said, "NO FISHING." Survivors will be prosecuted.

WHITESBURG ROTARY CLUB

NEXT MEETING — Tuesday, March 13.

SPEAKER — Archie
SUBJECT — Optional
ABSENT — Lewis, Archie and June

GUEST—J. E. Harrington
HERE ARE YOUR NEW OFFICERS (after July 1) and we do mean NEW.

President—Lee Moore
Vice President—Newt Collier
Secretary—Jimmie Marlowe
Treasurer—Willard Kiger
Directors—Myrel Brown and Bob Fike.

First time in a long time we have had as complete a change — seems the voters were determined to "kick the rascals out." Anyway—just remember you don't take office until July so try not to get fresh with the old ones until then or Jack and Woody may just take over on a permanent basis.

Let's all get behind Virgil and help him with the Easter Seal Sale drive. One man or two or three can't do it. This is our project and all of us need to help.

Our attendance for January was 86.43 placing us 26th in the District. We made a fair start today how about bringing our attendance up for March to at least 90 percent.

We thought Steve put away "Optional" for good a few weeks ago but here it is back again in charge of Archie. If anyone can take care of it permanently Archie should be the one to do it. So let's give him a 100 percent meeting and see what happens.

Remember the District Conference March 18 and 19 at Cumberland Falls.

Homemakers Corner

ROBERTA HALCOMB
Home Demonstration Agent

We all know what a problem it is to make that hard earned dollar stretch to fit the needs of the family. Here's a few tips on how to raise the nutrition for the family and thus live better for less:

1. Allow at least 50 percent of the food money for fresh fruits, vegetables and milk. You will find so many uses for this idea and your family will enjoy the variety and be so much better fed.

2. Always wash fruits and vegetables before storing in the refrigerator, checking daily for decayed spots, so as to keep the fruits and vegetables as long as you can.

3. Do not overload your refrigerator, because if you stack your food in without allowing for the air space, you lose a great amount of money in food spoilage.

4. Try shopping more often, and get smaller amounts: This way you have less spoilage and spoilage is the biggest waste of money we can have.

5. You can choose beef for the less tender cuts, and get just as many nutritive values, and still have delicious meals. Here's the less tender cuts — (and less expensive cuts of beef).

For Steaks: Chuck, shoulder, flank, round and rump

For Roasts: Chuck ribs, cross arm, clod, round and rump

For Stews: Neck, plate and brisket, flank, shank, heel of round.

Here's a delicious recipe for fixing pot roast:

Select a piece of meat weighing from four to six pounds. Wipe with a damp cloth. Rub the meat with salt, pepper and flour. Brown the meat on all sides in a heavy kettle, using about 3 tablespoons of beef fat. Slip a low rack under the meat, add one half cup of water, cover tightly, and simmer until tender. This will probably take about three hours. Turn the roast occasionally. When the meat is done, remove from the kettle, skim off the excess fat from the liquid, and measure the remainder. For each cup of gravy desired, measure 2 tablespoons of fat and return to the kettle, add 1 1/2 to 2 tablespoons of flour and stir until well blended and slightly browned. Then add one cup of the meat stock or of cold water and stir until smooth. Season the gravy with salt, pepper, and chopped parsley. Serve the pot roast on a hot platter with buttered carrots and stuffed onions.

If desired, any of the following vegetables may be cooked in the pot with the roast: carrots, celery, onions, potatoes, tomatoes, and turnips. Add the vegetables during the last hour of cooking the meat if they are to be served whole or in quarters. If preferred, they may be cooked longer and mashed and served as puree in the gravy.

Several of the ladies in the community have asked me for recipes of how to use more cheese in their families' diets. Since cheese is one of the most adaptable of foods and so delicious plus having great nutritive values, they wished to know how to vary the recipes for this food. Here's one way:

Cabbage with Cheese Sauce
1 medium size cabbage
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups shredded cheese

Core the cabbage, cut in quarters and cook in boiling salted water about 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly, make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Cook until the sauce has a creamy consistency. Remove the sauce from the fire, add 1 cup of shredded cheese and salt and stir until the cheese is melted. Place the cabbage on a serving dish, surround with cooked, buttered carrot strips. Pour the cheese sauce over the cabbage, sprinkling the remaining half cup of cheese over the sauce.

FARM NOTES

by Ellis Bishop,
(Acting County Agent)

Many farmers are beginning to think about planting corn. Farmers are beginning to realize that new varieties out yield the older varieties that we have been using in the past. New varieties are the Hybrids corns, which cut out the open pollinated varieties as much as 50 bushels per acre.

Corn varieties are all individualistic. They vary in many ways, such as yielding qualities, lodging resistance and disease resistance. Kentucky recommended hybrids should be used, as they are adapted to Kentucky conditions. Adaptation is a very important factor in corn and crop production and should be considered.

STRAWBERRY CORNER

by Robert H. Fike
Area Strawberry Agent

Planting a patch of berries this spring? Grubworms, cutworms and ants mean many dead plants. Either use a fertilizer broadcast that has chlor-dane or aldrin, or mix these materials in the fertilizer yourself.

Use fertilizer liberally, as long as an extra bag of fertilizer will give an extra crate of berries the return on investment is high.

At least 1,000 pounds of 5-10-10 per acre. Work this into the soil as soon as possible for better control of insects.

If the soil has a chance to settle and pack down a little before setting so much the better.

With a little more pretty weather our berries are going to be getting through the mulch in a hurry—is the mulch too heavy for this to happen?

DO NOT COMPLETELY REMOVE MULCH—YOU WANT CLEAN BERRIES!

HOW TO TREAT A NEW PUPPY

by Bob Bartos
Manager, Friskies Research Kennels

When your new puppy arrives at your home, he may be nervous and excited. Be friendly and gentle, let him gain confidence. If he's not housebroken, confine him to a limited area of the house and protect the floors with papers.

He'll need plenty of sleep. See that he has his own box, lined with carpeting, shredded newspaper or soft bedding, and place it in a quiet, draftless corner. Don't let children overtire him or handle him roughly. Don't feed him until he has calmed down after his arrival. Begin immediately to whistle him to his food so he will learn to come on call. Call him at every opportunity by the name you have chosen.

He may be lonesome or frightened for the first few nights. Place a hot water bottle wrapped in a towel in his bed. Some dog owners have found that a ticking clock placed near the puppy's bed will reassure him during those first long, quiet night hours.

Feeding Your Dog: Except for vitamin C, dogs and humans require the same quality protein and the same variety of vitamins and minerals. Dogs also suffer from many of the same nutritional diseases including anemia and rickets which may be caused by a lack of vitamin D. Several dog foods which are all-purpose supply all the nutrition needed at about one-fifth the cost of human food with equal nutritional value.

John Barleycorn Is A Killer On Nation's Highways

Reckless driving, carelessness and nips of John Barleycorn cause the greater part of car tragedies. This has been reported in the daily press for 1952 as follows: 38,000 Americans killed outright in traffic year as follows, many disabled permanently. In three years war in Korea, there were 141,705 casualties, including missing and prisoners. Of this number, 25,604 were reported dead.

This slaughter on the highways is largely preventable with stricter law enforcement and broader and more substantial roads should be constructed. The courts should fine the drunks the limit of the law, and the right to drive ought to be taken from them. It seems that people are always in a hurry to get somewhere. I see drivers going at least 75 miles on the street passing my home.

Figures show that for the whole United States, there were 7.3 traffic deaths for each 1,000-000 miles traveled. For the separate states the number varied from 1.9 to 10.6. It was 10 for Kentucky. Are we proud of this?

The greatest menace at present to our 20,000 pound truck roads are the 40,000 odd pound trucks being used. Truckers are demanding that the next legislature raise the limit to 56,000 pounds. If this request is granted, the highway department will be compelled to remodel the roads to meet the heavy traffic that the increase tonnage will require.

Trucks now used look like railroad cars and perhaps will hold as much. If the truckers demand is complied with, the increase in the size of the trucks will be made to take care of the extra weight allowed. Greater threat to the traveling public will be encountered, since the trucks take up the greater part of the roads and often sideswipe autos.

Charley Rose of Clearfield, returned from Service was sideswiped, lost an arm from which he died. Dorsey Keeton had a grandson in which a truck sideswiped his car and killed the boy. A driver in Ironton, O., said he felt a jar and looked down in his lap to see his arm. I saw in the papers where a man down in Georgia had his arm severed by a sideswiper. Every day we see hundreds of people in cars with their arms out of the car windows.

With roadhouses on the highways where whiskey and beer are sold, people will stop and have a drink. Many years ago I was in a car with a friend coming from Louisville, who was prominent in his locality, having been elected and re-elected several times as a county official. He stopped at every whiskey store on the highway for a drink. I said to him that "I did not think that gasoline and alcohol mixed very well." He replied: "When I have a few drinks under my belt, my eyes are much keener and I can see better." On arriving at Lexington, I bid my friends goodbye and took a train home.

I often read where returning soldiers from World War II and the Korean War are killed.

Many accidents on the highway can be avoided by careful car accidents, perhaps caused by careless driving with a little barleycorn on the side often prevent them from seeing ahead, and not careful of other cars and as a result accidents which could be avoided will happen, and death or crippling driving and keeping away from grog shops. Stay on your side of the road and don't try to "hog" it as some drivers are in the habit of doing.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Rev. C. A. Lingle, Jr.

—By—
INTERNATIONAL
UNIFORM SERIES
—O—
MARCH 18, 1956

LESSON VERSES: Luke 22:1-71 (To be read and studied in your Bible.)

PRINTED SCRIPTURE: Luke 22:7-23

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., and used by permission.)

It was during the closing hours of the life of Our Lord that He instituted the sacrament, "The Lord's Supper." During the passing of time there has been a great controversy in the Christian Church as to the number of sacraments and the definition of Sacrament but among Christian Churches this Sacrament is almost universal. The meaning and manner are still under question but in one form or another most churches observe this act of Christ.

The planning that went before this feast was done with care. The Passover of the Jews was to be its introduction. The food was made ready according to the law. An upper room that belonged to an unknown disciple was obtained. There would be no shrine to bring to mind the event instead its observation would bring to mind the Love of God and the sacrifices of His Son. Behind all the preparation is the plotting of enemies that would take the life of Jesus.

The New Testament gives little information about the Passover. The readers are supposed to know about the angel of death and the marvelous escape of the Children of Israel.

This Passover is different. Jesus stands at the head of the table and is the Host of His disciples. This is the last one for Him and it has a great significance for the old covenant passes away and a New Covenant is made between God and His Creation.

The disagreement among denominations as to the presence of Jesus Christ is in reality unimportance when we realize that the teaching extends to all people that the Lord Jesus must be central in our hearts, minds and spirits. At this table we renew our pledge to be His disciple and He in turn comes into us. This is the universal call of Christ, "This do in remembrance of Me," and any exclusion is contrary to the Spirit of Christ and detrimental to His Kingdom.

Fleming and McRoberts Baptist News

By Pastor,

The Fleming Baptist Church is happy to announce the opening of the Hemphill Baptist Mission in the Hemphill Grade School Sunday afternoon, April 1 at 2:00 p.m. (EST). We are encouraging all the people in that area to come out and hear the word of God taught. We will have classes for all ages. We have a wonderful staff of teachers to help in this work.

The McRoberts Baptist Church is making plans for their Revival April 16-25. Bro. Clel B. Rodgers, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Whitesburg, will be our evangelist. We are expecting to have a large crowd each night. There will be special music and testimonies from God's people.

I will be in Mississippi March 8-30 in a School of Missions. We will need the prayers of all the Christian people for this important meeting. We are looking forward to the fellowship and inspiration with those people. Rev. G. Nelson Webb will be filling the pulpit in my absence.

Come and hear this man of God proclaim the Gospel. Have you found your place in God's great program? If you haven't you should strive to find out what Christ has for you to do. God has a place for every individual in His Kingdom. There is surely something that you can do. Seek diligently to find what he has for you to do. You will never be satisfied until you have found your place in His Kingdom. Come to Church this Sunday and I am sure you will be blessed. We give you a special invitation to be with us this Sunday.

THE PARSON SAYS:

E. Hampton Barnette

This is the time of spring poetry, so I give you some of the verses of my poems:

Ode to March Wind
Samara's rising 'neath the leaves,
Wearing its winged helmet strong.
The doves are cooing on the eaves;
And redbreast sings her cheerful song.
The pussy willow is in bloom.
The alder shares its faint perfume.

The sycamore upon the hill
Lets go its russet apples fair.
The puccoon and the daffodil
Are dancing in the chilly air.

From the poem . . .
The Grass Is Blue

The daffodils
With Golden cups
Crochet their laces
By the stream;
While restless catbirds
O'er them scream.
The cardinal in
His all-red dress
Keeps rendezvous
In leafy boughs
For mating with
his browner spouse
At nesting time.

This is part of my poem,—"THE PASTOR MOVES" and was written several years ago.

The Pastor Moves
"We need a change,"
Some people say,
"You need a change!"
The pastor said,
"Of tongue, and heart,
And soul and head."
"Roll up the rug,
Tear up the bed,
For you must move,"
Chief deacon said.
He told the Super
With a shrug,
"We need a change."
Roll up the rug.

We've had our fun
And sorrows deep;
But when we move
We always weep.
When we move to
That happy shore
May we begin
Our work once more?
St. Peter'll greet
Us with a smile;
"Unroll your rug
And rest awhile."

Tax Computation Explained By Revenue Director

The Internal Revenue Service announced today that, in view of pending legislation which, if enacted, would continue the present corporate normal tax rate, corporations with taxable years ending after March 31, 1956, and before December 31, 1956, may use the tax computation provided with Form 1120-ES for 1955 in estimating their tax for such taxable years. However, if such legislation is not enacted, the computation of estimated tax may, of course, be made in accordance with section 21 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

Easter Seals Helped 75 Letcher Children With Medical Care

Easter Seals provided 75 children in Letcher county with medical care, clinic examinations or treatment last year, it was reported today.

Virgil Picklesimer, County Easter Seal chairman, said services were provided through the combined facilities of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, the Easter Seal society.

"Whenever a Crippled Children Commission clinic is held for the children of this area, Easter Seal funds help pay expenses of the clinic staff," the chairman said.

In addition, 19 youngsters from Letcher county were patients at Cardinal Hill Hospital, an Easter Seal center in Lexington. Another eight had other medical or hospital care paid for by Easter Seals.

The Kentucky Society also furnishes transportation for children to clinics and hospitals, and purchases wheel chairs, braces and the like, hospital equipment and medicines.

Its funds are raised during the current Easter Seal campaign, which continues through April 10.

The Chairman said Easter Seals also finance a state-wide program of speech and hearing tests and a loan pool of special equipment for crippled children in public schools. Teachers are given aid in helping correct speech of youngsters found defective. Hearing aids are purchased for children with hearing impairments after follow-up testing.

Open House at New Hospital Attracts Wide Attention

Huge throngs from far and near, visited the new Memorial Hospital, Sunday afternoon, at which time an open house reception was given by doctors and nurses in charge.

Numerous comments were heard, such as, "It's too good to be true," "Simply out of this world," "It will be a great blessing," "I never dreamed it would be as great as this," etc.

While the exact number of visitors is not known, it is estimated they numbered 2321 or more.

Hospital Opening Date Sometime After March 20

Letcher Fiscal Court Meeting

Letcher Fiscal Court convened on Tuesday, March 13th for the regular monthly meeting with County Judge James M. Caudill presiding. Magistrates present were Edwin Holbrooks, Gardner Bates, Willard Hall, Henry M. Webb, W. R. Bates, Celson Scott, and Lawrence Cornett. Gordon R. Lewis County Attorney, advised and discussed the legality of a claim presented by County Sheriff, Robert B. Collins. Mr. Lewis made it plain that he was going strictly according to the statutes of Kentucky and that it was his desire to stick to the letter of the law. Collins filed on a claim for $2900, and Attorney Lewis contended that this should be itemized before it was allowed. The Court voted to pass the claim over until an itemized statement was rendered.

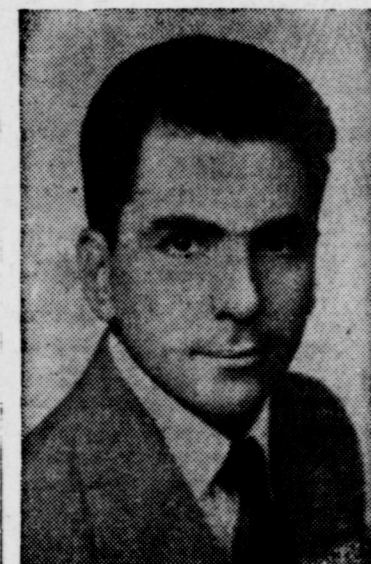

At the outset of Court, Judge James M. Caudill went into detail to explain to some visitors from Linefork that right-of-ways of roads gotten in promptly often times meant the difference between one section and another getting the road. Said Judge Caudill, "We can't buy farms for right-of-ways and build any roads. We only have a limited amount of money for the right-of-ways, and we can only build so many roads a year."

The District Convention will be held April 13 and the State April 14. Letcher County is entitled to one delegate to be chosen for every two hundred votes cast in the County in the Presidential Election of 1952.

The Republicans in each precinct should attend this meeting March 17 for the purpose of electing their precinct chairman in their precinct so they will have a chairman who is satisfactory and will do the best job for the Republican party. If you fail to attend this meeting, Mr. Republican, a precinct chairman will be appointed and it may not be the one of your choice. So come and select your own chairman. ## Expansion of Electric Service Announced By Power Company; to Spend $700,000,000

The largest expansion in its 50-year history was announced today by the American Gas and Electric Company, parent organization of Kentucky Power Company.

The AGE System, which provides electric service to over 4,800,000 people in seven states, will spend $700,000,000 for construction of new facilities during the period 1956-60.

This expansion will include the addition of 2,600,000 kilowatts of generating capacity to meet the ever-increasing demands of the system's 1,300,000 customers.

Phillip Sporn, president of AGE, stated—"This program is designed to provide the entire area served by the American Gas and Electric System with all the power that its communities and industries can use to the same full extent it has always been available. We are looking forward with great confidence to the continued growth and expansion of the seven-state territory served by the AGE System. We are proud of our success in the past in increasing power supply as rapidly as customers and prospective customers could use it. The AGE System's aim, however, has always been to do more than that, by planning ample supplies of power well in advance of need to stimulate expansion of use of electric energy throughout our territory. Our new program—larger than anything we have ever undertaken before—underlines in terms of concrete action our confidence in the potential growth of the region in which we operate.

"All of the studies that we have made indicate that, as a result of natural growth and of our continuing efforts in area development, the utilization of electric power on our system will increase four-fold over the next 20 years. This building program, therefore, is but the first step in quadrupling our facilities to meet that demand in that time.

"We are particularly gratified to be able to announce the launching of such a program in 1956—the 50th anniversary year of the founding of the American Gas and Electric Company."

The 2,600,000 kw program will raise the AGE System's total generating capacity to 6,600,000 kw by 1960, more than double the system's capacity in 1952 and more than triple its 1949 capacity. A total of 1,700,000 kw of the expansion is already under construction or will be started within the next 45 days—this phase will be completed in 1956-58. The balance of the details of which are as yet unannounced, will be commenced by the middle of 1956 and completed in 1959-60. The new 2,600,000 kw program, Mr. Sporn observed, comes on top of a previous 10-year construction program, just ended, which involved capital expenditures of $785,000,000 and added 2,245,000 kw of capacity.

The generation facilities represent only a part of the new facilities planned in the $700,000,000 expansion in 1956-60. A large portion of the new investment will be devoted to construction of more transmission lines, distribution lines, substations, and operating and service centers. One of the most significant elements in the plans is the erection of new and important links in the AGE System's 330,000 volt network, the highest voltage transmission system in the nation.

Operating utility companies of the AGE System and the states in which they operate are as follows—Appalachian Electric Power Company, Virginia and West Virginia—Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, Indiana and Michigan—Kentucky Power Company, Kentucky—Kingsport Utilities, Inc., Tennessee—Ohio Power Company, Ohio—and Wheeling Electric Company, West Virginia.

GOOD FOR EVERYONE

Next April 1 soft coal prices will be generally increased. The increase, it is reported, will range from 15 to 50 cents a ton.

The reason for this is that the coal industry's expenses have been rising—primarily because of payroll costs. The new labor contract agreed upon last September provided for wage boosts totaling $2 a day, along with substantial increases in overtime pay. And the cost of labor, like any other cost, must be reflected in the price consumers pay for the product. The coal operators have no alternative.

Even with the increases, coal will remain an excellent bargain as a fuel and a source of energy. The new price levels will be just about the same as those obtaining eight years ago, in 1948. It was at that time that heavy cuts in prices began—and went to the point where many operators actually operated at an out-of-pocket loss.

It is obvious that such a situation could not indefinitely continue. It is equally obvious that the situation undermined the true interests of coal consumers, to say nothing of coal producers. For what the consumer wants and must have is a certain source of top-grade coal—and that can't be assured by a profitless industry.

The announced increases are moderate. Their purpose is to allow coal to pay its bills and have a chance to earn some kind of a profit. And that is good for everyone.

THE SIXTY-DAY RUMPUS IN FRANKFORT

Like many others in Letcher County we grew somewhat tired of the Wetherby Administration and rather welcomed the new administration of "Happy" Chandler, but after 90 days of Governor Chandler and 60-days of the current General Assembly, we have developed, to put it mildly, some serious misgivings.

Since the Legislature convened on January 3, we have watched the proceedings with astonishment. Perhaps no legislature in Kentucky history has been so completely under the Governor's control. He has pushed bill after bill through the Senate and House to the accompaniment of fierce squeaks, squawks and howls from dissenting members. But the major legislation has borne the Chandler stamp and is his, whether good, poor or awful.

Some enactments have been excellent and we are by no means critical of everything passed to date. However we deeply resent these measures:

1. The bill to repeal the tax on gambling bets at Keeneland race track near Lexington. It cost the state $310,000, yearly at a time when our schools are in desperate need for more money.

2. The re-organization bill. It will cost at least $100,000 a year to support the 8 Advisory Highway Commissioners. We need more miles of roads, not more politicians on the payroll.

3. The election bill. It comes two months before a hard-fought primary and implies that an effort is to be made to rig the election for the administration candidate.

4. The proposal to spend $200,000 on the Governor's mansion. This money could have been wisely spent for repair of school houses.

5. The proposal to legislate the elected officials of Frankfort out of office. This one was so outrageous that it sickened the legislators into killing it.

But out of all this sound and fury not one cent has come to the common schools for the Minimum Foundation Program and nothing has been done for the T.B. and Mental hospitals. What has become of the grand promises of last summer? When do we find "the gold mine in the sky?"

Perhaps the answer lies in the two Special Sessions which the Governor has announced. To one he will propose a bond issue of $100,000,000 and to the other a program to levy 25-30 million dollars yearly in new taxes. It may be that instead of last year's promise of efficiency and no new taxes we are to get this year, in fulfillment, great public debt and crushing new taxation.

Like many others we are alarmed by the proceedings at Frankfort. But we find no quarrel with our own State Representative, Harry M. Caudill, who has consistently spoken and voted for better government and has exercised an honest and independent judgment.

Maybe we are unduly alarmed and all the new laws will turn out for the good of our people, and we certainly hope so. We will be the first to recognize them if they do. We are only interested in the welfare of our great Commonwealth and its future.

A LETTER

Oakland, Calif.
Feb. 26, 1956

Dear Editor:

An organization is being formed to cooperate with the major and large minor baseball leagues through which they can obtain more and perhaps better prospects for their clubs and affiliates.

We are starting with about 150 towns throughout the country where clubs can be formed for our scouts to visit for the purpose of signing professional talent. These are the details:

Your very best young ball players, 17 through 24 years,

whether from other towns, clubs, or not are brought together and formed into a team by a local man who knows talent to act as manager for the sole purpose to be scouted by professional clubs; this club of yours to be known as "Future Major Leaguers Jenkins Branch," its players can belong to other clubs in your area but should be available as a unit when scouts are to call, in this manner the professional clubs will have much more material to develop and ball players who otherwise might never be noticed, will have their chance.

Your branch manager, selected from among you could be an active manager for another club but still handle the Jenkins Branch. Your part in acquainting the people of your area with this arrangement will be appreciated by both the town and ball players, also the Association.

Very truly yours,
Future Major Leaguers Ass'n

FARM NEWS

EGGS

Poultry farmers are constantly concerned with reducing costs of production, especially now because of high feed prices. Essential in producing low-cost eggs is to raise healthy, sturdy pullets and bring them into production at the lowest possible cost. This was the purpose of two experiments conducted at the Robinson Substation.

The studies were made to determine (1) if it would be practical to use a simple, cheap grain mixture along with a mineral supplement instead of a more complex type of ration, and (2) if this plan would produce the type of pullet necessary for most efficient egg production.

The production-bred New Hampshire chicks used were brooded under similar conditions, and for the first 8 weeks all birds were fed a practical 20-percent starting mash, with grain being fed free-choice during the last 2 weeks of the brooding period. Then the birds were moved from the brooder house and placed on a natural or wild type range and divided into four groups. Three groups were fed an 18-percent protein range ration and a mixture of whole corn and oats free-choice. The fourth received only the corn and oat mixture and steamed bonemeal. The feed for all birds was available in hoopers, and the birds had access to pasture at all times. They were housed in the laying house when approximately 20 weeks old, and then all birds were fed the same 20-percent protein laying mash and grain mixture free-choice.

In respect to production, the most significant difference between the birds was in the percentage of eggs laid during the high-egg-price months of September through December. During that period the pullets which had received the mash and grain out-layed those which had received grain and bonemeal by 16.1 percent the first year and by 7.5 percent the second year. At housing time the former outweighed the latter by 1.5 pounds. The grain-bonemeal-fed pullets were underdeveloped and underweight when housed, and about 2 months were required for them to build up their body weight and to get into full production. Once they were into full production they generally outlaid the pullets which had received mash and grain and also maintained a higher production rate for a longer period. The majority of their eggs came, however, in late winter and spring when prices were lowest.

As for yearly production, there was little difference between the two groups of birds. The first year there was a difference of 6.5 percent in favor of the birds that had received mash and grain, but this was reduced to less than 1 percent the following year. There was also little difference between them in respect to mortality and the amount of feed required to produce a dozen of eggs.

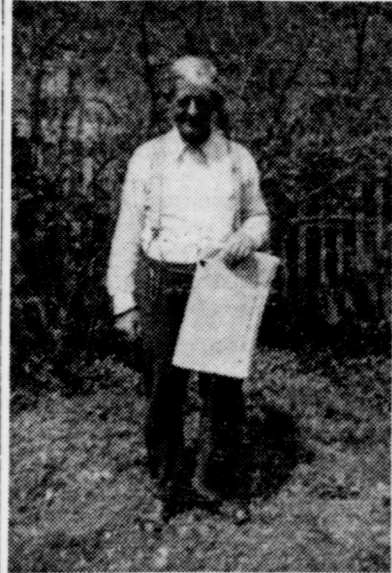

These results indicate that although pullets can be raised at a cheaper feed cost by using a simplified range feed, this may not be economically sound because fewer eggs are produced during the months of high egg prices. Better results might be obtained when simplified range rations are used if the birds had access to an excellent range, such as one consisting of ladino clover or other good legume.

Another problem studied at the Robinson Substation was whether production-bred New Hampshire pullets required a higher percentage protein concentrate than the usual 20-percent mash feed when the free-choice method was used. Two groups of pullets that had been fed an 18-percent range mash and free-choice grain ration were selected and divided into two pens of approximately 100 each when they were about 20 weeks old. Both groups received a whole corn and oat grain mixture free-choice, while one was fed a 20-percent laying mash and the other a 26-percent mash.

No advantage was shown in favor of the 26-percent mash during the two full laying years the experiment was conducted. For the first year egg production was 55.8 percent for the birds getting 20-percent mash and 55.7 for those receiving the 26-percent mash. The second year's figures were 54.1 and 55.0 percent, respectively. The percentage mortality and pounds of feed required per dozen of eggs were about the same. The pullets receiving the higher protein feed did consume more total protein, but it was not reflected in the results obtained.

GMC brings you the most impressive improvements of all 1956 trucks

Now we can show you these great new GMC's that are further than ever ahead of all others. Their advances not only clinch power supremacy—but reach into fields still unexplored by other truck-makers.

For example, GMC's Road Shock Damper Suspension*—plus a unique new stabilizer—produces in half-ton models a ride comparable to the finest passenger car.

An optional new fast-ratio cruising axle in light-duty GMC's gives you an overdrive's pace and economy without its cost.

Sharply increased engine displacement in both sixes and V8's gives you a power family unsurpassed in the light-duty field. Specifically, we offer 14.4% GREATER displacement on 6-cylinder models, 16.2% on V8's than our nearest competitors. And GMC V8's, mind you, match the shortest stroke ratios in the truck industry.

Styling is well into the future—panoramic windshield to sand-tight tail gate. Tubeless tires, of course. And a 12-volt electrical system is standard. These are some of the strides presented in new 1956 Blue Chip trucks we now have on view. The values are even more notable. Come in and get the facts!

'Jackets Runners-Up For 14th Regional

The Carr Creek Indians, considered by many to be the team that will be on top when the current State Tournament is over, knocked off the injury-laden Whitesburg Yellowjackets 76-46 on the final contest of the 14th Regional Tournament at Hazard, Saturday night.

The Yellowjackets, playing without the services of 6' 5" Senior Pivotman Jimmie Blair and limited action from Captain Rex Polly who played his final games with 28 stitches and a clamp in his right hand, played on even terms with the Indians for one half of the game but fell by the wayside in the final half. Blair, the Whitesburg hope to keep down the scoring threat of Bobby Ray Shepherd, the Letcher County boy who transferred from Kingdome Come Settlement School to the Knott County school at the beginning of the current season. Polly, a consistent scorer and rebounder for the Jackets, played with the stitches as a result of an accidental fall through a window in the dressing room of the Whitesburg gym following their next to last regular season outing with the Cumberland Redskins.

Whitesburg lost the opening tip and Carr Creek's E. A. Couch hit a shot from 30 feet out to send the Carr Creekers' out in front 2-0. The Indians ran the score up to 8-0 with 3 minutes elapsed in the contest before Robert Meade hit two charity tosses to set the score at 2-2. The Knott County boys continued their red-hot pace and by half time the score stood at 32-25. E. A. Couch, almost a surety for All-State honors, hit for 18 first half points.

During the second half of the contest, the Trosperites fell by the way as the red-hot Indians pulled their lead up to a thirty-point margin by the end of the contest 76-46.

Taking all scoring honors for both teams was E. A. Couch with 23, followed by Bobby Shepherd with 17, Maggard with 12, Calhoun with 6, and Amburgey, Richardson, Mullins, and Combs with 4 each. Guard Robert Meade tabulated 20 markers for the losing Whitesburg five, followed by Sexton with 10, Billy Banks (the red-headed fireball) with 8, Rex Polly with 4, and Darrel Stidham with 4.

The youthful Whitesburg cage mentor, Ernest "Ernie" Trosper, the former College star who led the state college scoring pace last year, had nothing but praise for his Yellowjackets, who were his first team in his first year coaching career. Trosper had a very successful season as he took his Jackets to the finals of the 14th Regional Tournament.

On the victory path to their final game, the Trosperites overcame the Fleming Pirates for the third time this year 71-58 and the Leslie County Eagles 75-62 to gain their final position. Both teams were highly ranked and before the game odds were impossible as both games were tossups. The Jackets jumped to big leads in both contests and soared to their final margins with the grace of a professional team.

Pike Music Festival Held April 5 - 7

Pikeville, Ky. — The Pikeville Regional Music Festival, which annually draws more than 1,000 high school students, will be held April 5-7 on the campus of Pikeville College.

Students already are entered from 14 high schools in six Eastern Kentucky Counties.

Dr. A. A. Page, college president and festival manager, said today. The entrants will not be rated, but those recommended by the judges at Pikeville will be qualified for the vocal and piano section of the State Music Festival April 27 and 28, and the instrumental section May 11 and 12.

Besides "state" entries, which are now closed, further entries for purely local participation will be received until March 19, Dr. Page said. The "local" entries will receive the criticisms and suggestions of the festival judges, but will be ineligible for the state contests.

The 279 registrations in different events already carded are headed by 36 piano solos. Numerous vocal and instrumental solos and small groups, 9 high school bands and 11 choruses also are scheduled.

Judges to criticize performances and select state-contest participants include, for choral and vocal events, James van Peursem, head of the Eastern Kentucky State College Music Department; Gomer C. Pound, of the Morehead State College music faculty, for woodwind solos and ensembles; and two University of Kentucky music instructors. The University faculty members are J. William Worrel, who will criticize bands and brass-instrument numbers, and Ford Montgomery, judge of piano events.

On The Hill

By Phyllis Hall

Whitesburg Yellowjackets were victorious over the Fleming Pirates again Wednesday night in Memorial Gymnasium at Hazard. Supported by the band and team-followers the first step was accomplished 71-59.

Thursday a Navy counselor spoke to Seniors about their future, after the big step into the world.

Mr. Boggs had to speak to a few students about their lockers! That is to the ones who have about fifteen to one locker.

Friday the school was preparing for the overthrow of Leslie County and a big pep rally clinched it. I'm sure I'll never see a more inspiring scene or a happier face than that of Coach Trosper, when the team carried him off on their shoulders. The relationship between Coach and athletes has carried Whitesburg High School to the regional finals. That night the Majorettes of the band received a tremendous ovation at the completion of their performance during half time.

The Senior play of the class of '56 is under way, with Miss Raleigh as director. The selection is a very popular one, entitled "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." Based on the novel by John Fox, Jr., with our local color, the play should attract a very large audience of people from all over the county. Those chosen for parts are Joella Craft, Harold Cook, Charles Adams, S. T. Barrett, Peggy Fultz, Janice McKnight, Iva Lee McCray, Janet Ison, Donelda Breeding and Phyllis Ann. The casting is not completed at the present time.

The tryst with Carr Creek was heartbreaking. It was a long ride home, but not because of defeat, but because we knew Carr Creek is not thirty points the better team. A star of the big five did not even dress due to the condition of his ankle—Big Jim Blair watched the massacre from the bench. Even in defeat we're proud of the fact that On the Hill we've always come up with winner or runner-up trophy for the past thirty years.

Sunday the Carr Creek Indians and their backers paraded through town celebrating their victory. All the way 14th District, we're for you!

Monday the trophies were presented to the school and Coach Trosper and Coach Moore did the ceremonies. Mr. Boggs said they would be displayed in a new trophy case, which must be built. All the boys who had not already received two high school awards were given their basketball jackets. They are quite different this year, but very handsome. I don't blame the boys for their proud strutting.

The Class Presidents were called to the office for the drawing of the Inter-Mural basketball games. The winner will play the undefeated faculty. They win in the end, boys, so don't beat 'em. Added attraction will be Little All-American Ernie Trosper.

Monday night the Band Club met and the future bandsters were discussed and uniformed. Tuesday each class was shortened in order to meet each class and yet hear the excellent concert presented by the Georgetown College Band. Playing first chair cornet was our former band director, Mr. Jack Taylor. Two former students in the band also were Miss Wallen Enlow and Mr. Gail Potter. The students showed how much they liked the program by the attention they gave and by their applause. Mr. Taylor and Gail Potter were two of a Trio which played Bugler's Holiday. A very fine band.

School was dismissed at 2:00 o'clock for a P.T.A. meeting in the grade school auditorium.

The next few remaining weeks will go by very fast and certainly they will be the most exciting and longest remembered events of our lives. Seniors, this is your time, weigh it for the worth that our twelve years of education allow us to comprehend. The largest graduating class ever to tread the way off the hill. Even though it will be a sad moment it will also be a happy one with the feeling of one major step accomplished.

I guess you don't have to read any more to know how I hate to leave this old school. The days to come will be happy ones—tomorrow is one of those days, so bye now.

—PHYLLIS ANN HALL

Scenes from the Holy Land

THE TILLER OF THE SOIL

The first employment ever given to man belonged to the husbandry calling. The three prominent branches of this work considered of the case of vineyards, the growing of grain, and the raising of flocks. Adam was told to keep the Garden. His sons followed their father's profession. Abel raised flocks and Cain was a tiller of the soil.

Agriculture has always been an honorable calling and a needful one, too, for the king himself is served from the field. In the Bible Lands today soil cultivation remains the chief occupation of the people. The old, old primitive method of the wooden plow, drawn by cattle, is still used.

Possibly no implement of the Bible is more frequently illustrated than the plow. There is every reason also to believe that the plows still used in Palestine, Egypt and Syria are counterparts of ancient ones. The first plows were probably an adaptation of the ancient, but famous, Egyptian hoe, with the handle being lengthened in order that animals might be hitched to it.

Such an implement as the crude, wooden plow of the Bible Days could do little more than scratch the surface of the ground, and this is what the Hebrew word implies. In those days planting preceded plowing. The farmer walked across the field scattering the grain, while the servant or his wife followed behind him plowing the soil and covering the seed.

When Elisha was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen there were probably twelve plows, each with its pair of bullocks and its man. I have seen numerous plows in the same field at work. The arable land of nearly all villages is cultivated in common. Then, too, the Arab farmers delight to work together, partly for mutual protection and partly from their love to gossip.

One special law is mentioned in the Scripture in connection with plowing. Namely, that an ox and an ass should not be yoked together. This prohibition is utterly disregarded today. One may see any number or kind of combinations hooked to the plow in Palestine.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug counter.

Heartbreak and Frustration Found In Doctors' Offices

by Jack Wild

An elderly man, sick and in need of prompt medical attention, sat in a doctor's outer office. He was weary, bone weary, for now it was late afternoon and he had been there since 11. All day the room had been crowded with patients waiting for the busy doctor. When after seemingly endless hours his turn came to see the specialist, the old fellow received skilled treatment that made his ills a bit easier to bear—but he had had to wait half a day to get it.

In another doctor's reception room a young mother and her 4-year-old daughter waited. The youngster had heavy metal braces on her legs and a battered doll in her arms. She was a sweet-natured child with a friendly smile for the others, some sitting on chair arms or even standing, who waited to see the doctor. She had been through this before and she didn't complain about the long wait, but at least she tugged on her mother's skirt. "Mommy," she whispered, "I'm so tired."

Little scenes of heartbreak and frustration like these occur in Kentucky every day, and they serve to point up the critical shortage of doctors that exists. In all likelihood Kentucky has some of the best doctors to be found anywhere, but at least four studies of the Commonwealth's medical problems show that there simply are not enough of them.

The Kentucky Medical Foundation cites a 1953 report of the Legislative Research Commission to support the statement:

"There is a definite State-wide shortage of physicians, allied medical personnel, and medical facilities, and a critical shortage in most rural and farm areas. Kentucky currently has a shortage of about 1,400 doctors. The shortage in 1965 could reach 1,800."

The answer, according to the Foundation, is the establishment of a medical school at the University.

Statement of Hon. Carl D. Perkins on The Floor of the House, March 5, 1956

Mr. Speaker:

The accomplishments of Medical Science since the days of Dr. Harvey and Pasteur are among the brightest pages of History, but there remains much to be done. The two dreaded killers, Cancer and Heart Disease, remain among the mysteries of medical problems with neither a preventive nor a cure being known. Our own ranks, our friends and our families are no strangers to either the stark tragedy of a torturing death from Cancer or the sudden stroke of the grim reaper through Heart Disease. Medical Science can do little in either case and there is little if any warning in the approach of the latter.

The success of Medical research in other fields gives us every reason to believe that it will eventually conquer these two great plagues which between them account for two of every three deaths in this country. Such research requires both dedicated scientists and money. Our schools, given time and opportunity, will develop the scientists, but the financial requirements are so great that there is no hope of obtaining adequate funds for the job unless this body takes the lead and become the major contributor. The National Institutes of Health are doing yeoman work in this field, but it is necessary that they be given additional support if we expect them to both intensify and expand their activities. Progress in their efforts must not be halted or developments lost in the name of economy. There is another major field, Mental Health, in which much research remains to be done. Many, altogether too many, able-bodied individuals are slipping into that category now known as the mentally ill each year. Once considered victims of evil spirits, these individuals are now recognized as suffering from diseases of the mind but neither the cause nor a cure is known. They are our living "dead" and no effort to discover the cause or a cure for such an illness should be spared.

I do not know how much can be economically invested in these and allied causes each year, but I am ready and willing to be guided by the advice of the specialists who best know the scope of these problems. The National Advisory Councils of each of these Institutes make annual reports advising us as to the minimum amount required to maintain progress in these all important research fields. They are my guide, and I can think of no better one. Each year we have failed to reach, or remotely approach these minimum requirements. In 1952 President Truman recommended a total of $54 million for these three research programs, but his successor in the name of economy reduced these recommendations in a document usually known as the revised budget for 1954 by more than 30% to $36.6 million. Some $4 million of this cut was restored by the members of this body, and I take pride in believing that my efforts had some effect in this action. By 1955 the appropriations for these three programs had been increased to $43 million. The 1956 recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget is a respectable $53 million, but the Advisory Councils recommended $78 million as the minimum necessary to continue these programs. Nothing less should suffice.

In a year during which we are increasing appropriations for interest payments by $200 million dollars following a $500 million increase this year, with no increase in the National debt limit, must we admit that this Congress is more concerned with the financial health of our bondholders than we are in the mental and physical health of our individual citizens.

The interest cost for the fiscal year of 1955 was 6.4 billion dollars. The 1957 estimate is $7.1 billion dollars without a change in the national debt limit. Only $3 of each $100 of the two-year increase would be required to meet the recommendations of the Advisory Councils.

The Appropriations Committee

tee has increased the recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget by $10,000,000. This will increase the research funds for each of these Institutes by one million dollars. This is real progress in the right direction which I heartily endorse, but I hope the recommendations of the National Advisory Councils headed by outstanding authorities such as Dr. Paul White will be given more consideration in the future.

The funds for vocational education authorized by the George-Barden Act in the present budget recommendation total $26,500,000, the same as was appropriated last year. These funds are matched by local and state funds at a variable ratio which in the fiscal year ending 1955 was $4.43 of State and local funds for each dollar of federal appropriations. The Appropriations Committee has increased this recommendation to $29,267,000 which approximates the full authorization of $29,300,000 under the George-Barden Act. Each dollar of this two-and-three-quarter million dollar increase means more than $5 for vocational education when matched by state and local funds. The approval of this increase will mean much to the future of this country. The Budget Bureau recommended that grants to states and other agencies for vocational rehabilitation be increased by three and one-quarter million dollars to a total of $37 million.

The Appropriations Committee has seen fit to decrease this amount to $35 million. I feel that the Committee was in error in this action. This is a 50% reduction in the funds for research. Mr. E. B. Whitten, of the National Vocational Rehabilitation Association says that this reduction means two things — "First, that research now under way on disabling conditions and rehabilitation methods will have to be cut back or some projects discontinued entirely. Second, it means a complete halt to any new research during the coming fiscal year."

I think we should recognize him as an authority on the subject and give his statement full consideration.

WOMAN'S CIVIC CLUB OF JENKINS

Members of the Woman's Civic Club of Jenkins were charmed with a program of folk dancing at their meeting on Tuesday night, March 6 at the Library, when eight members of the Jenkins High School Folk Dancing Club entertained them with seven entrancing numbers.

Under the direction of Mr. Jack Neice, a member of the high school teaching personnel, the folk dancers interpreted both foreign and American dances to record music, with a brief history of each by Mr. Neice. Members of the Club who participated were David Howard, Pat Chandler, Paul Dotson, Loretta Looney, James Gray, Linda Cantrell, Ronald Charles and Linda Boggs.

The program on International Affairs, was arranged by Miss Dorsey Walker, also a member of the teaching personnel of the Jenkins High School, who gave an interesting talk on the meaning of folk dances, and explained that she had chosen to portray that particular phase of different nationalities. "True folk dances," she said, "reflects the spirit and characteristics of the people."

During the business meeting, presided over by Miss Clara Shaw, president, announcement was made of the Pot-Luck supper and election of officers, to be held March 2 at the Library, and a nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of new officers. These were Mrs. Steve Varson, Mrs. Blake Sanders and Mrs. Sam Holbrook.

Announcement was also made concerning the Handicraft Exhibit to be held May 1 at the Library, with Mrs. Varson as general chairman. Club members and friends are invited to meet at the library on Friday evenings during the remaining weeks of March and through April to work on handicrafts.

Other business brought before the Club included a brief talk on the meaning of the Freedom Scroll, by Miss Shaw, who urged all members to sign the Scroll and thus help to fight Communism. Miss Walker, Chairman of International Relations, and her committee, will contact each member. Mrs. Anna Holbrook has been deputized to secure new registrations for voting, in the Jenkins area, and it was urged that all new residents or others who have not previously been registered contact Mrs. Holbrook. Mrs. William Daniels is chairman of the registration committee.

Following the program of dances, a film was shown on Community Betterment, based on an interview between Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and an executive of the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Projects for the Community Achievement Contest, sponsored by Women's Clubs by various clubs nation-wide were shown in an interesting manner. The film was run by Eddie Wayne Bowling, a Jenkins High School student.

Guests of the Club were Mrs. Taylor Horn of Dunham; Mrs. L. R. Hanyen, Jr., of Gainesville, Florida, who is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Varson, and Mr. Neice and the members of his folk dancing club.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Arnold Mattox, Mrs. Paul Faux, Mrs. W. T. Love, Mrs. L. C. McCloud, Mrs. R. M. McDonough and Miss Shaw, who served delightful refreshments buffet style, from a lace covered, candle-lit table.

Missionary Day Exercises at Clear Creek

Pineville, Ky. — The third in a series of four missionary day exercises of the school year will be held March 20, and 21 at the Clear Creek Mountain Preachers Bible School, Pineville.

The program will begin at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday night in the Kelly Hall Chapel. Rev. Wendell Belew, Mount Vernon, Ky., will give an illustrated message by showing projected pictures of mission work in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky. Mr. Belew is superintendent of mountain mission work for the General Association of Baptists in Kentucky.

On Wednesday morning the exercises will open with a special prayer meeting for missions at 8:30 a.m., followed by state and regional group meetings. At 11:00 a.m., Rev. Belew will bring the principal missionary address.

A special feature of the 11:00 o'clock service will be the presentation of the annual award to the "Outstanding Mountain Minister of the Year." This year the award will go to Dr. J. S. Bell, Pastor of the Hindman Baptist Church, Hindman, Ky.

Dr. Bell has served as pastor of the Hindman church for the past sixteen years and pioneered in the establishing of a church-centered mission program. He was the overwhelming choice of associational missionaries and church leaders who made nominations for the award from pastors in the whole Appalachian mountain region.

Rural Couple's Baby Delivered By Veterinarian

by Jack Wild

Does Kentucky need more doctors?

In a remote corner of one Kentucky county, an anxious young husband, humble and poor, tried desperately to get a doctor to attend his wife, who was about to have her first child. No doctor came.

The young man, frantic, appealed to a neighbor for help, and the neighbor suggested that a veterinarian be called. The veterinarian delivered the baby. This is a true story. The Kentucky Medical Foundation has facts to support it.

Other similar cases in the same county are not unheard of. The old practice of midwifery is common in that section. The people living there want more doctors and better medical attention. Local doctors are said to oppose the opening of a second medical school in Kentucky.

The critical shortage of doctors is not limited to one section of the state. In 1949 over 5,000 births—most of them in rural areas—occurred with no physician in attendance. In the death of infants under one year of age, the Kentucky rate was higher than that of all but three other states.

It is estimated that rural Kentuckians get less than half as much medical care as city dwellers. Rural counties have an average of one doctor for 1,976 people, while eight urban counties have an average of one doctor per 816 people. One county in Kentucky has only one physician for its population of 13,000. Another does not have even one doctor living in the county.

Kentucky, with some 3,000,000 people, has 2,375 doctors. Great numbers of Kentucky's residents do not receive adequate medical attention, it is residents do not receive adequate medical attention. The answer to the problem, according to the Medical Foundation, is the early establishment of a state-supported medical college at the University of Kentucky.

County's Needy Residents Drew $50,927 Benefits

Frankfort, Ky. — Needy residents of Letcher County drew $50,927 through the State Department of Economic Security in February which administers the public assistance programs—it was announced today by Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Barnes.

Total old age assistance grants for the month were $18,799; while aid to dependent children grants in the county were $29,736, and needy blind grants totalled $2392.

Total outlay for public assistance during the month was $3,254,326 of which $1,949,210 went for old age assistance; $1,191,296 for dependent children, and $113,820 to the needy blind.

Soil Conservation

Local School

On March 9 the members of the Stuart Robinson High School Conservation Club, which is sponsored by Pat Napier, set approximately 6,000 trees on property owned by the Stuart Robinson School. These trees were set by the Club members in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, on idle mountain land.

The tree setting was supervised by Mr. Napier and he was assisted by Albert Hayes of the Knott County Soil Conservation District.

Bill Morrill, Soil Conservation Service, Forester Harvey Bradley, Soil Conservation Service, Hazard, and Cecil Hensley, Work Unit Conservationist of the Letcher County Soil Conservation District.

TAKING DOWN SIGN—Thurston B. Morton, who has announced he will be a candidate for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket this year, resigned as assistant secretary of state in Washington to devote full time to his campaign. He is pictured as he took down the "shingle" over his office door in the U.S. State Department, where he was an advisor of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Morton Begins Tour of State

Beginning immediately, Thurston B. Morton of Louisville, who is a candidate for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket this year, will tour Kentucky to discuss campaign plans with party leaders.

Morton, a former Congressman and recently an assistant secretary of state in the U. S. State Department in Washington, said he believes his party will have strong candidates for Congress in all Kentucky districts this year, and that an all-out effort, aided by many Democrats, would be launched to carry Kentucky for President Eisenhower.

The senatorial candidate, who managed the successful senatorial campaign of Senator John Sherman Cooper four years ago and came within 700 votes of giving the state's electoral votes to Eisenhower, said the President has gained strength among Kentucky voters during his four years in office.

He pointed out that recent polls show well over 60 percent of the voters want the President, returned to the White House.

Washington observers said that when Morton resigned President Eisenhower gave the Kentuckian one of the strongest letters of commendation issued by Ike thus far to any candidate for office.

"In carrying out the responsibilities of Assistant Secretary for Congressional Relations," Eisenhower wrote Morton, "you have evidenced a wealth of abilities that have been of great assistance in the effective conduct of our foreign relations. Both Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and I will miss the strong support you have constantly afforded through your perceptiveness, broad understanding and forthright handling of matters of common interest to the Congress and the State Department."

"During your three years in this post you have not only earned the profound respect of your colleagues throughout the Executive Branch, you have confirmed the high regard of those Members of Congress with whom you served as a Representative from Kentucky. To one as devoted as you are to public service, such esteem must be especially gratifying. I trust that the success and important achievements you have already made will encourage you in your desire to contribute publicly in still larger measure to the security and well being of the American people."

West Virginia Joins SREB

Atlanta, Ga.—West Virginia has become the 16th state in the Southern Regional Education Compact by action of its legislature in February.

One-third of the United States are now members of the Compact, which was created by legislative action in 1949 and established the Southern Regional Education Board.

"The SREB has accomplished much in the seven years of its existence," West Virginia's Governor William C. Marland stated in signing the bill. "We are proud to become a part of this vital force in higher education in the South."

In Tallahassee, Florida, Governor LeRoy Collins, chairman of the SREB, said that the entry of West Virginia into the Compact was a "significant event" in the history of regional education.

At its 1955 meeting, the Board took action to approve the participation of West Virginia and Delaware in the Compact programs effective July 1, 1956. Delaware ratified the Compact in 1955 and ten of the original 14 states have approved admission of both West Virginia and Delaware.

Full membership of the two states will depend on the final approval of the other fourteen states.

Mr. Flint read a letter from Gov. A. B. Chandler of a proclamation setting aside March 25th to 31st as Teacher Appreciation Week.

To show our appreciation for the fine work done in our schools we decided to have a covered dish supper March 30th at 7:00 p.m., and which is to be at the Lower School. Each parent is invited to bring a dish of food and enjoy an evening of fun.

A Nominating Committee was appointed consisting of the following: George Lundy, Carl Mercer and Miss Betty Reynolds.

The Spring Conference of the P.T.A. is to be March 24th at the Napier High School and the parents who want to go are to let the President, Warrnie Flint, know by March 22nd. It was voted to pay all expenses for those who will attend.

Miss Auxier, Mrs. Wilma Huffman and Mrs. Dixon were appointed on the Auditing Committee.

Motion was made and passed by vote to send $5.00 as a Founders Day donation.

Miss Reynolds asked that we give the dessert dishes left from the Carnival to the Home Ec. Class, which we did.

Concerning the awards for the Patrol Boys was postponed until the next meeting. A Committee was appointed to discuss this with Mr. Johnson, the Principal.

Since the high waters had washed trash onto the ball park, a committee was appointed to see that it is cleaned off.

Messrs Carl Mercer, Tom Scott, George Lundy, Jimmy Zid-eroff and Warrnie Flint, Jr., were appointed to attend the School Board Meeting each month for the rest of the school year.

The Jr. High have some towels they were to sell to buy records so Miss Reynolds ask us to pay them for the towels then they would continue to sell them and return the money to the P.T.A. Motion on this was made and passed by all.

There were thirty-five parents and teachers present at the meeting.

Miss Auxier's Second Grade won the banner for having the most parents present.

Meeting was adjourned.

by Rev. Byrd Adams

We talked about things that happened, seemingly, a long time ago. Yet, as our minds began refreshing memories of boyhood days, it seemed like, at most, a yesteryear away. We mentioned some of the great persons with whom we came in contact in those days. Among them were such fine old men as the genial and wise late Professor Harris, who was then living in his sunset years.

It seemed like a long time, and in the lives of busy young men facing life's responsibilities it had been a long time, since Mr. Bob Pendleton of Whitesburg, or Bobby, as his friends still call him, and I had seen each other. So it was natural that we spent the most part of last Friday evening talking about old times.

Bobby, who is a repairman on brake assembly at the Chrysler-Jefferson plant—though presently laid off temporarily, and Pete Jarrett dropped over to see me early last week and found me away. Friday evening I went to see him and Pete.

A cute little six year old girl with blond pig tails received me at the door. She answered "yes" when I inquired if this was the residence of a Mr. Bobby Pendleton.

"Come in, Byrd!" a big booming voice bellowed as its owner, the said Mr. Pendleton came toward the door. "Well I'll be! Boy! It's good to see you again!"

Thus began a most pleasant evening as Bobby and I reverted back to boyhood days. Probably it was a good thing our wives were not there to hear our stories of boyish pranks and the next thing to general mayhem along with the other things that go to build memories of many a man.

The last time I had seen Bobby Pendleton was in 1944 before he went away to the Navy to help fight a war. Now, 12 years later, I ran into him again surprised to learn that he had been living in the same general neighborhood of Detroit in which I resided for more than three years. He had been in Detroit much longer than that.

In the course of his Navy career Bobby met a Miss. Mary Elizabeth Parker from the Province of Saskatchewan, Canada. They met in Vancouver, Canada, while Bob was on leave. Bobby and Mary later married and now have a girl, Cheryl, age six, and a boy, Terry, age 14 months.

Bobby showed me some interesting pictures taken while the family was on vacation in Canada last summer. They spent two weeks visiting with Mary's family on her father's farm, which is 1,800 miles by highway from Detroit.

"That was two wonderful weeks of hunting, fishing, picnicking, and so on," Bobby said. "My wife's folks sure are fine people."

"Wonderful country up thru

Bald Eagle off a telephone pole." He showed me a picture of a roe there," he continued. "I shot a big eagle. There are streams up through there that has never seen a fishing pole. It almost takes the fun out of fishing, the way they bite."

Bobby went in the kitchen to make a pot of coffee. His daughter, Cheryl, said to me, "I can make a house."

"You can?" I said. "Well, that's fine. How about drawing one for me in my notebook?"

She took my pencil and drew a house with windows, a roof and a door. Then she drew a little girl wearing a bonnet. Beside the little girl she placed a dog. All very well drawn, I must say.

While Bobby and I were having coffee Pete Jarrett, who is a butcher with National Foods, Inc., here, came in. After that Pete, Bobby and I went visiting into the past via memories of days in the little town of Whitesburg in the seemingly long ago.

One thing Bobby, Pete and I agreed we have in common among other things is, whenever we are back in Whitesburg we make it a point to call on one of the persons who have had so much influence in our lives as we are living them today. The person is Mr. W. L. Stallard, a Whitesburg High School teacher.

Early Corn Delivery Established

Mr. Roy C. Gray, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today that farmers in the State of Kentucky who have corn under farm-stored loans and purchase agreements will be allowed to deliver their corn to the Government under the direction of local county committees starting May 1, 1956. Farmers were originally scheduled to deliver this grain July 31, 1956. Mr. Gray stated an early delivery date for this corn was established by the State Committee because it was their opinion that farmers in Kentucky were not in position to safely store their corn for the full storage period due to the heavy infestation of corn in this area during the summer months by the anguonim moth.

OUT ON A LIMB

By Stumpy McCulloch

Seems to me that an Old Timer is a fellow who remembers when history was made at half the price it costs today.

Sitting on the back porch the other night, watching the sun drop behind the green trees on the hill, I got so I was havin a running battle with the flies and mosquitoes something terrible. Between rounds I got to thinkin how insects are the greater enemy of our forests. Control of tree-killing insects and bugs is a problem for scientists and foresters, but I got to considering how we can help by cleanin out over-crowded stands and harvestin timber before it gets over ripe. And everytime I clipped a mosquito I could almost imagine a tree doin the same in the forest on the hillside.

John Cacioppo, a popular Texas distributor of lumbering supplies, writes that a Texas pedestrian is a guy who walks to the garage for his car.

Got involved in talking about families a while back with some fellers who said they was amazed that a shory like me could have such a nice bunch around the house. I told them my first name was Stumpy just cause I was small — not cause I wasn't no good.

Then I reminded him that in the forest, just like in many other places, good things come in little packages. The smaller the stump, the less good wood is wasted, for that much more board feet have gone into lumber or pulp.

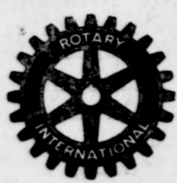

He has to agree with me. Stumpin a forest low to the ground is the best. An' that's why I'm proud of my first name. It's a pretty good sign of fine forestry.

Women know they've reached middle age when their shoes pinch them more than the men do.

We get flash storms where I live. Whenever they spring up I like to sit next to the window and watch the lightning scurry across the heavens. I don't worry too much about lightning causing forest fires. People cause more fires than lightning and we can do something about that. It might be if we'd make people see it's more fun to play with a whole tree than just a match we'd have less worry.

And if we had no trees we'd have no row boats. Without boats people could never catch those bigmouth bass up Maine way. Talkin about fishin reminds me of the time I saw a sign in a farmer's fish pond which said, "NO FISHING." Survivors will be prosecuted.

WHITESBURG ROTARY CLUB

NEXT MEETING — Tuesday, March 13.

SPEAKER — Archie
SUBJECT — Optional
ABSENT — Lewis, Archie and June

GUEST—J. E. Harrington
HERE ARE YOUR NEW OFFICERS (after July 1) and we do mean NEW.

President—Lee Moore
Vice President—Newt Collier
Secretary—Jimmie Marlowe
Treasurer—Willard Kiger
Directors—Myrel Brown and Bob Fike.

First time in a long time we have had as complete a change — seems the voters were determined to "kick the rascals out." Anyway—just remember you don't take office until July so try not to get fresh with the old ones until then or Jack and Woody may just take over on a permanent basis.

Let's all get behind Virgil and help him with the Easter Seal Sale drive. One man or two or three can't do it. This is our project and all of us need to help.

Our attendance for January was 86.43 placing us 26th in the District. We made a fair start today how about bringing our attendance up for March to at least 90 percent.

We thought Steve put away "Optional" for good a few weeks ago but here it is back again in charge of Archie. If anyone can take care of it permanently Archie should be the one to do it. So let's give him a 100 percent meeting and see what happens.

Remember the District Conference March 18 and 19 at Cumberland Falls.

Examiner Appointed

Frankfort, Ky. — Appointment of Robert B. Evans, 31, as senior examiner for the Department of Insurance was announced today by Commissioner of Insurance Cad Thurman.

Since 1954, Evans has been associated with a Louisville firm of Certified Public Accountants. He will be assigned to the central offices here but his work will take him across the state to examine insurance companies to determine if they are financially sound.

New Bridge Recommended

Frankfort, Ky. — Construction of a new $12,570,000 six-lane bridge across the Ohio River connecting Covington and Cincinnati was recommended to the State Highway Department by the consulting engineer firm of Halett and Erdal.

The proposed span would be located some 800 feet downstream from the existing Chesapeake and Ohio River Bridge. It would connect with the Covington Expressway at Ninth Street, but exclude the Cincinnati approach. Engineers recommended the location as the "most economical" and providing the most direct route for the connection between the expressways in both cities.

Red Cross Praised

Frankfort, Ky. — Praising the Red Cross for its "inestimable service to people throughout our nation and the world," Governor A. B. Chandler proclaimed the month of March as "Red Cross Month in Kentucky." He urged that Kentuckians support the aims of the Red Cross liberally.

Another proclamation designated the week of May 6-12 as "National Hearing Week" and suggested that all citizens "lend their best efforts to the campaign for better hearing."

Deputy Warden Named

Frankfort, Ky. — Lloyd Armstrong, 42, Marion, was named as deputy warden at Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange to replace Cecil Thacker who had held the position for four years. Armstrong was deputy warden at Kentucky State Penitentiary in Eddyville for several years, but resigned last November and accepted a post with the Kansas State Penitentiary.

Homemakers Corner

ROBERTA HALCOMB
Home Demonstration Agent

We all know what a problem it is to make that hard earned dollar stretch to fit the needs of the family. Here's a few tips on how to raise the nutrition

for the family and thus live better for less:

1. Allow at least 50 percent of the food money for fresh fruits, vegetables and milk. You will find so many uses for this idea and your family will enjoy the variety and be so much better fed.

2. Always wash fruits and vegetables before storing in the refrigerator, checking daily for decayed spots, so as to keep the fruits and vegetables as long as you can.

3. Do not overload your refrigerator, because if you stack your food in without allowing for the air space, you lose a great amount of money in food spoilage.

4. Try shopping more often, and get smaller amounts: This way you have less spoilage and spoilage is the biggest waste of money we can have.

5. You can choose beef for the less tender cuts, and get just as many nutritive values, and still have delicious meals. Here's the less tender cuts — (and less expensive cuts of beef).

For Steaks: Chuck, shoulder, flank, round and rump

For Roasts: Chuck ribs, cross arm, clod, round and rump

For Stews: Neck, plate and brisket, flank, shank, heel of round.

Here's a delicious recipe for fixing pot roast:

Select a piece of meat weighing from four to six pounds. Wipe with a damp cloth. Rub the meat with salt, pepper and flour. Brown the meat on all sides in a heavy kettle, using about 3 tablespoons of beef fat. Slip a low rack under the meat, add one half cup of water, cover tightly, and simmer until tender. This will probably take about three hours. Turn the roast occasionally. When the meat is done, remove from the kettle, skim off the excess fat from the liquid, and measure the remainder. For each cup of gravy desired, measure 2 tablespoons of fat and return to the kettle, add 1½ to 2 tablespoons of flour and stir until well blended and slightly browned. Then add one cup of the meat stock or of cold water and stir until smooth. Season the gravy with salt, pepper, and chopped parsley. Serve the pot roast on a hot platter with buttered carrots and stuffed onions.

If desired, any of the following vegetables may be cooked in the pot with the roast: carrots, celery, onions, potatoes, tomatoes, and turnips. Add the vegetables during the last hour of cooking the meat if they are to be served whole or in quarters. If preferred, they may be cooked longer and mashed and served as puree in the gravy.

Several of the ladies in the community have asked me for recipes of how to use more cheese in their families' diets. Since cheese is one of the most adaptable of foods and so delicious plus having great nutritive values, they wished to know how to vary the recipes for this food. Here's one way:

Cabbage with Cheese Sauce
1 medium size cabbage
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups shredded cheese

Core the cabbage, cut in quarters and cook in boiling salted water about 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly, make a white sauce of the butter, flour and milk. Cook until the sauce has a creamy consistency. Remove the sauce from the fire, add 1 cup of shredded cheese and salt and stir until the cheese is melted. Place the cabbage on a serving dish, surround with cooked, buttered carrot strips. Pour the cheese sauce over the cabbage, sprinkling the remaining half cup of cheese over the sauce.

Many farmers are beginning to think about planting corn. Farmers are beginning to realize that new varieties out yield the older varieties that we have been using in the past. New varieties are the Hybrids corns, which cut out the open pollinated varieties as much as 50 bushels per acre.

Corn varieties are all individualistic. They vary in many ways, such as yielding qualities, lodging resistance and disease resistance. Kentucky recommended hybrids should be used, as they are adapted to Kentucky conditions. Adaptation is a very important factor in corn and crop production and should be considered.

STRAWBERRY CORNER

by Robert H. Fike
Area Strawberry Agent

Planting a patch of berries this spring? Grubworms, cutworms and ants mean many dead plants. Either use a fertilizer broadcast that has chlor-dane or aldrin, or mix these materials in the fertilizer yourself.

Use fertilizer liberally, as long as an extra bag of fertilizer will give an extra crate of berries the return on investment is high.

At least 1,000 pounds of 5-10-10 per acre. Work this into the soil as soon as possible for better control of insects.

If the soil has a chance to settle and pack down a little before setting so much the better.

With a little more pretty weather our berries are going to be getting through the mulch in a hurry—Is the mulch too heavy for this to happen?

DO NOT COMPLETELY REMOVE MULCH—YOU WANT CLEAN BERRIES!

HOW TO TREAT A NEW PUPPY

by Bob Bartos
Manager, Friskies Research Kennels

When your new puppy arrives at your home, he may be nervous and excited. Be friendly and gentle, let him gain confidence. If he's not housebroken, confine him to a limited area of the house and protect the floors with paper.

He'll need plenty of sleep. See that he has his own box, lined with carpeting, shredded newspaper or soft bedding, and

Dog of the Week: BOXER.

Working dog; average weight, 70 pounds; height at shoulder, 23 inches; coat, short, smooth, shiny; fawn or brindle in color, black muzzle.

place it in a quiet, draftless corner. Don't let children overtire him or handle him roughly. Don't feed him until he has calmed down after his arrival. Begin immediately to whistle him to his food so he will learn to come on call. Call him at every opportunity by the name you have chosen.

He may be lonesome or frightened for the first few nights. Place a hot water bottle wrapped in a towel in his bed. Some dog owners have found that a ticking clock placed near the puppy's bed will reassure him during those first long, quiet night hours.

Feeding Your Dog: Except for vitamin C, dogs and humans require the same quality protein and the same variety of vitamins and minerals. Dogs also suffer from many of the same nutritional diseases including anemia and rickets which may be caused by a lack of vitamin D. Several dog foods which are all-purpose supply all the nutrition needed at about one-fifth the cost of human food with equal nutritional value.

John Barleycorn Is A Killer On Nation's Highways

Reckless driving, carelessness and nips of John Barleycorn cause the greater part of car tragedies. This has been reported in the daily press for 1952 as follows: 38,000 Americans killed outright in traffic year as follows, many disabled permanently. In three years war in Korea, there were 141,705 casualties, including missing and prisoners. Of this number, 25,604 were reported dead.

This slaughter on the highways is largely preventable with stricter law enforcement and broader and more substantial roads should be constructed. The courts should fine the drunks the limit of the law, and the right to drive ought to be taken from them. It seems that people are always in a hurry to get somewhere. I see drivers going at least 75 miles on the street passing my home.

Figures show that for the whole United States, there were 7.3 traffic deaths for each 1,000-000 miles traveled. For the separate states the number varied from 1.9 to 10.6. It was 10 for Kentucky. Are we proud of this?

The greatest menace at present to our 20,000 pound truck roads are the 40,000 odd pound trucks being used. Truckers are demanding that the next legislature raise the limit to 56,000 pounds. If this request is granted, the highway department will be compelled to remodel the roads to meet the heavy traffic that the increase tonnage will require.

Trucks now used look like railroad cars and perhaps will hold as much. If the truckers demand is complied with, the increase in the size of the trucks will be made to take care of the extra weight allowed. Greater threat to the traveling public will be encountered, since the trucks take up the greater part of the roads and often sideswipe autos.

Charley Rose of Clearfield, returned from Service was sideswiped, lost an arm from which he died. Dorsey Keeton had a grandson in which a truck sideswiped his car and killed the boy. A driver in Ironton, O., said he felt a jar and looked down in his lap to see his arm. I saw in the papers where a man down in Georgia had his arm severed by a sideswiper. Every day we see hundreds of people in cars with their arms out of the car windows.

With roadhouses on the highways where whiskey and beer are sold, people will stop and have a drink. Many years ago I was in a car with a friend coming from Louisville, who was prominent in his locality, having been elected and re-elected several times as a county official. He stopped at every whiskey store on the highway for a drink. I said to him that "I did not think that gasoline and alcohol mixed very well." He replied: "When I have a few drinks under my belt, my eyes are much keener and I can see better." On arriving at Lexington, I bid my friends goodbye and took a train home.

I often read where returning soldiers from World War II and the Korean War are killed.

Many accidents on the highway can be avoided by careful car accidents, perhaps caused by careless driving with a little barleycorn on the side often prevent them from seeing ahead, and not careful of other cars and as a result accidents which could be avoided will happen, and death or crippling driving and keeping away from grog shops. Stay on your side of the road and don't try to "hog" it as some drivers are in the habit of doing.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Rev. C. A. Lingle, Jr.

—By—
INTERNATIONAL
—O—
MARCH 18, 1956

LESSON VERSES: Luke 22:1-71 (To be read and studied in your Bible.)

PRINTED SCRIPTURE: Luke 22:7-23

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., and used by permission.)

It was during the closing hours of the life of Our Lord that He instituted the sacrament, "The Lord's Supper." During the passing of time there has been a great controversy in the Christian Church as to the number of sacraments and the definition of Sacrament but among Christian Churches this Sacrament is almost universal. The meaning and manner are still under question but in one form or another most churches observe this act of Christ.

The planning that went before this feast was done with care. The Passover of the Jews was to be its introduction. The food was made ready according to the law. An upper room that belonged to an unknown disciple was obtained. There would be no shrine to bring to mind the event instead its observation would bring to mind the Love of God and the sacrifices of His Son. Behind all the preparation is the plotting of enemies that would take the life of Jesus.

The New Testament gives little information about the Passover. The readers are supposed to know about the angel of death and the marvelous escape of the Children of Israel.

This Passover is different. Jesus stands at the head of the table and is the Host of His disciples. This is the last one for Him and it has a great significance for the old covenant passes away and a New Covenant is made between God and His Creation.

The disagreement among denominations as to the presence of Jesus Christ is in reality unimportance when we realize that the teaching extends to all people that the Lord Jesus must be central in our hearts, minds and spirits. At this table we renew our pledge to be His disciple and He in turn comes into us. This is the universal call of Christ, "This do in remembrance of Me," and any exclusion is contrary to the Spirit of Christ and detrimental to His Kingdom.

Fleming and McRoberts Baptist News

By Pastor,

The Fleming Baptist Church is happy to announce the opening of the Hemphill Baptist Mission in the Hemphill Grade School Sunday afternoon, April 1 at 2:00 p.m. (EST). We are encouraging all the people in that area to come out and hear the word of God taught. We will have classes for all ages. We have a wonderful staff of teachers to help in this work.

The McRoberts Baptist Church is making plans for their Revival April 16-25. Bro. Clel B. Rodgers, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, Whitesburg, will be our evangelist. We are expecting to have a large crowd each night. There will be special music and testimonies from God's people.

I will be in Mississippi March 8-30 in a School of Missions. We will need the prayers of all the Christian people for this important meeting. We are looking forward to the fellowship and inspiration with those people. Rev. G. Nelson Webb will be filling the pulpit in my absence.

Come and hear this man of God proclaim the Gospel. Have you found your place in God's great program? If you haven't you should strive to find out what Christ has for you to do. God has a place for every individual in His Kingdom. There is surely something that you can do. Seek diligently to find what he has for you to do. You will never be satisfied until you have found your place in His Kingdom. Come to Church this Sunday and I am sure you will be blessed. We give you a special invitation to be with us this Sunday.

THE PARSON SAYS:

E. Hampton Barnette

This is the time of spring poetry, so I give you some of the verses of my poems:

Ode to March Wind
Samara's rising 'neath the leaves,
Wearing its winged helmet strong.
The doves are cooing on the eaves;
And redbreast sings her cheerful song.
The pussy willow is in bloom.
The alder shares its faint perfume.

The sycamore upon the hill
Lets go its russet apples fair.
The puccoon and the daffodil
Are dancing in the chilly air.

From the poem . . .
The Grass Is Blue

The daffodils
With Golden cups
Crochet their laces
By the stream;
While restless catbirds
O'er them scream.
The cardinal in
His all-red dress
Keeps rendezvous
In leafy boughs
For mating with
his browner spouse
At nesting time.

This is part of my poem,—"THE PASTOR MOVES" and was written several years ago.

The Pastor Moves
"We need a change,"
Some people say,
"You need a change!"
The pastor said,
"Of tongue and heart,
And soul and head."
"Roll up the rug,
Tear up the bed,
For you must move,"
Chief deacon said.
He told the Super
With a shrug,
"We need a change."
Roll up the rug.

We've had our fun
And sorrows deep;
But when we move
We always weep.
When we move to
That happy shore
May we begin
Our work once more?
St. Peter'll greet
Us with a smile;
"Unroll your rug
And rest awhile."
